RESEARCH URGED FOR COAL TRADE

Investigators Should Examine Bamberton Cement Works', Pulverized Coal, Says Mr. W. A. McKenzie

FISHERIES CONTROL SHOULD BE UNIFORM

AMONG the debaters in the Legislature there are few, if any, on either side of the House who are listened to with greater attention than Mr. W. A. McKenzie, member for Similkameen and Conservative whip in the House. He contributed to the debate on the budget yesterday afternoon, and made one of the most telling criticisms of the Government that has been heard in the Legislature this session, containing several constructive policies.

The coal industry received much attention at his hands. Mr. McKenzie lamented the fact that the present Government appeared to have passed into an apathetic state with respect to this industry, which should be of such importance in British Columbia owing to the fact that there were such large deposits of coal in the province.

The P.G.E. policy, or lack of policy on the part of the Government, was attacked. He said that the Government could not escape from the responsibility of every dollar of money that was spent on the road since it took power.

A humorous part of the speech was that part where Mr. McKenzie reviewed the speeches and the manifesto of the Attorney General in the election of 1916 when he was running as a candidate in support of the Liberal party. The long list of unredeemed pledges made by Mr. Manson at that time, as compared with the tenure in office of the party, brought forth applause and laughter from the Opposition side.

The explanation offered by the Premier was that Mr. Manson was young then.

Another point that was taken up by the member for Similkameen was that with respect to certain small books authorized for use in the public schools of this province, and which were of United States production. These books were exhibited and were intended for the use of the beginners at school, being practically nursery books. The only flag shown in them was the United States flag, and the coinage of the United States appeared in illustrations in it. Mr. McKenzie said he felt that they could be produced in Canada, and that if a flag was to be placed before the scholars it should at least be the British flag.

The Premier offered the explanation that books of this kind could not be produced in Canada. At the same time Mr. Ian Mackenzie, at the mention of the flag illustration, offered the remark, "Keep the flag out of it."

COAL INDUSTRY

Speaking on the coal situation, Mr. McKenzie said:

"Despite the fact that the fuel situation in Ontario constitutes one of that province's most acute problems and British Columbia's known

Arbitration to Be Compulsory With Exceptions

HAVANA, Feb. 17.—With the endorsement of the United States, compulsory arbitration was proclaimed today by a major committee of the Pan-American conference to be the key of the maintenance of peace in the Western Hemisphere, and as providing a logical means for the settlement of international disputes.

After a three-hour session today the subcommittee of the committee on public international law, agreed unanimously on the report which calls for "an arbitration conciliation conference" in Washington within the next year to draw up a collective Pan-American arbitration convention.

According to the report, the specific duty of the Washington conference would be to discuss the minimum exceptions to compulsory arbitration to which all countries would be expected eventually to agree for the purpose of excluding from such procedure questions involving their independence, sovereignty, domestic affairs, and problems affecting third parties not signatory to the convention.

FREE TRADERS ARE ABANDONED

Prairie Farm Leader Says Budget Tariff Changes Are Based on Principle of Protection

FARMERS' BURDENS ARE DISREGARDED

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.—Condemnation of the budget and of the Government's general attitude to the tariff was voiced today by Mr. George Edwards, vice-president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, who is on his way home from Ottawa, where he has been interviewing the Government and the tariff board in the interests of his organization.

The reductions in manufactured articles, said Mr. Edwards, have been accompanied by reductions on raw materials, giving the manufacturers just about the same margin of protection. There is no sign that the Government has any intention of abandoning the protective principle.

PRAIRIE AND TARIFF

The budget will be greeted with no sort of enthusiasm by the farmers of Canada, on whom the burden of the tariff strikes the hardest. It is sufficient to draw attention to the fact that duties have actually been placed on goods which previously entered the country free."

Dealing with the attitude of his organization to the tariff generally, Mr. Edwards said that their point was that it should be based on what agriculture, the basic industry of the country, could bear; not how much the manufacturers could have to compete with other countries. There is no sign that either the Government or the manufacturing industry has any idea of making up to the farmer the burdens he has to bear in competing with cheaper cost of production and lower transportation costs, in countries with which he is chiefly in competition, namely, the Argentine and Russia.

Racing Driver Ready Today to Attempt Record

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 17.—Captain Malcolm Campbell, English automobile racing driver, having tested his Bluebird special at an officially estimated speed of 193.02949 miles an hour today, was prepared for his first attempt to set a new world's record here tomorrow. His mount, propelled by a secret motor of the British Air Ministry, used by Great Britain in winning the last Schneider Cup race, was declared to have behaved beautifully.

His official trial tomorrow, he indicated, would depend on the weather and condition of the beach. No time for the test was announced.

During the trial today, the Bluebird apparently skimmed over the sands under perfect control. It required four and a half miles for Captain Campbell to bring his machine to a halt after he attained his maximum speed.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The Journal states that the United States Government has purchased a property on Wellington Street, adjoining the Rideau Club, on which will be erected the offices for the legation. The Journal understands that the new building will provide a residence for the United States Minister as well as the legation offices.

'HALF-TRUTH' WORRIES DR. SUTHERLAND

Minister of Public Works Declares Criticism Would Not Bother Him Were Whole Story Told

ROAD WORK CHARGE CALLED UTTER ROT

Contractors for Government Work "Honest Men Doing More Good * * * Than Opposition Leader"

DECLARING that he objected to statements of half-truths, but was not worried when all the facts were revealed, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, answered criticism of his department in the budget debate in the House yesterday.

Continuing the debate from the Ministerial ranks, Dr. Sutherland expressed himself as in complete agreement with the member for Similkameen in his contention that road work can be done most effectively before March 31, when the new year's appropriations become available under the present fiscal system. He agreed that better value for the public money would be gained if their money were made available sooner, but to make such a change would necessitate change of the entire bookkeeping system.

The member who had last spoken also had referred to a ministerial promise as to extension of the highway from Spence's Bridge south. That promise had not been forgotten. When the roadmakers got to Spence's Bridge it was still the intention to develop the road system to the south as well as along the line of the C.P.R.

With regard to the advantage to be derived through more extensive use of modern roadmaking machinery, he again was in agreement with Mr. McKenzie. But as to the use of road machinery, it was necessary to proceed slowly. This was a new country, and many industrious settlers developing their homesteads counted upon obtaining work for their teams on the roads as almost

CELEBRATION INAUGURATED

JUNIOR CHAMBER ELECTED BY CITIZENS AS MANAGING COMMITTEE

Co-operation of Public Bodies Asked to Make May 24 Event Successful

The citizens' meeting called last night by Mayor J. Carl Pendray, at the request of last year's May 24 celebration committee, elected the Junior Chamber of Commerce to act as a special committee to supervise the arrangements for the celebration this year.

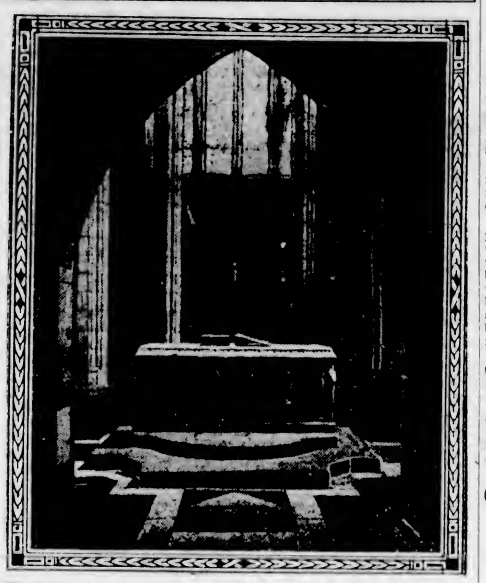

Mayor Pendray in opening the meeting, said that the citizens had been called together to discuss not the policy or number of days that the celebration should be held, but to elect a committee to carry out the arrangements for the celebration. The question of policy could be discussed later.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce asking that the Junior Chamber be appointed as the managing committee only to handle the celebration, was read to the meeting.

Mr. W. T. Straith, acting president of the organization, outlined the object of the Junior Chamber before putting the motion. He said that the organization was composed of 130 young business men who desired to render service. They had been inspired to ask for management of the celebration because of certain suggestions made by a speaker at their inaugural banquet, and because other junior chambers in Canada and the United States had taken over the annual celebra-

THE Bible which the Prince of Wales presented to Canada's national war memorial is seen reposing on the altar of sacrifice in the Victory Tower. Although the presentation was made upon the occasion of the Prince's last visit to the Dominion, it was only recently that the gift became generally known, the memorial chamber in which it reposes being thrown open for inspection only on special occasions.

Workmen on New Christ Church Cathedral Will Contribute Two Niches

"ON behalf of the men working on the new cathedral, I want to tell you about a contribution that the masons, stonecutters and other employees of the contractors and the Canmos Stone Company are making to the building." The speaker was a stonemason, Mr. J. W. Fraser, and the occasion, a private exhibition of lantern slides illustrating the development of English Church architecture given last night by the Archdeacon of Columbia in the Memorial Hall, to which the workmen and others interested in building the new Christ Church Cathedral had been invited.

"We have been thinking about it for some time," Mr. Fraser continued. "We could not get a hint from any of the officials as to what we could give. But we wanted to give something of our own, in remembrance of the part we had in helping to build the cathedral. So we decided to give the two niches on each side of the arch over the main west entrance."

NICHES DESCRIBED

Thus was the interesting announcement made that the workmen on the new cathedral are presenting two niches that will stand, fourteen feet six inches high, in a conspicuous part of the great west front, some twenty feet above the top step of the west entrance. The niches will be given complete with shafts, bases and capitals, surmounted by a trefoil head, with hoodmould over. Later, it is hoped, statues will be provided for the niches.

In explaining further the reasons for the gift, Mr. Fraser said: "We feel that, in spite of our modern education and advanced science, we are not leaving to future generations what the generations gone by have left to us, that is beautiful buildings. But that can't be said now of Victoria."

"So," the speaker concluded, "we wanted to help in our own little way, as others are helping in a bigger war, to build this beautiful cathedral in Victoria."

It is understood that all the men are giving out of their wages to make this presentation.

BISHOP REPLIES

In rising to acknowledge the gift, the Bishop of Columbia stated that he had not heard until the evening what the workmen had planned to do.

"I don't know of any announcement about our cathedral that has made me happier than this," the bishop said, adding that he thought it might be unique in the history of cathedral building in Canada. "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for your gift," he continued, "I am sure that what you have done will be an inspiration to us all."

The archdeacon added his own appreciation at the end of his informal lecture, in which he had illustrated features in the architecture of famous English cathedrals to which there is something akin in the building now being erected in Victoria.

While striking views of the interior of Canterbury, York Minster, and Liverpool Cathedrals were shown, selections of cathedral music were played on a phonograph lent for the occasion by Messrs. Davis & King.

Saskatchewan House Refuses to Condemn Australian Treaty

REGINA, Feb. 17.—By forty-eight votes to five the members of the Saskatchewan Legislature today, on a first division of the present session, declined to endorse the following resolution:

"That the operation of the Australian treaty in so far as it affects farm produce is not in the best interests of the dairy industry of this province, and that the Dominion Government be requested to take steps to remove from said treaty existing handicaps to said industry."

BILL CONCERNS EASTER SUNDAY

Would Fix Easter Day as First Sunday After Second Saturday in April Every Year

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Capt. R. C. Bourne, Conservative member of the House of Commons, who is seeking to secure a fixed date for Easter, today moved the second reading of his Stabilization of Easter Bill, which received second reading without a division. The bill proposes to fix Easter on the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April, and provides that the date upon which the measure is to come into operation shall be fixed by an order-in-council. Easter Sunday under the present system is the first Sunday after the equinoctial full moon, on or after next March 21, and therefore cannot be earlier than March 22 or later than April 25. This year it falls on April 8.

Austrian Rivers Swiftly Rising And Overflowing

VIENNA, Feb. 17.—Fears are felt throughout Austria over the steady rising of the Danube and its tributaries. Other large streams throughout the country are swiftly mounting and overflowing their banks.

Hundreds of homes, sawmills and barns are submerged, but so far no loss of life has been reported. The entire Dram Valley is a vast torrent of rushing waters. In many districts thousands of cords of timber were carried away creating great damage.

Smoke-Blinded Child Stumbles Into Bush Fire

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 17.—Blinded by smoke from a brush fire near the road, Mary Jessie Forsberg, three one one-half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Forsberg, walked into the centre of the blaze and was fatally burned yesterday afternoon near Ridgefield.

She died at 7 o'clock last night in the hospital, in the same room in which she was born three and one-half years ago.

The girl, in company with her young brother, was walking down the road to meet a school bus which was bringing home her older brothers and sisters. The wind was blowing the smoke from the brush fires across the road, and in attempting to avoid it, she became blinded and confused, and stumbled into the fire.

WARDEN COOPER IS DISMISSED

Ottawa Department Summarily Retires Colonel Cooper From New Westminster Penitentiary

RETIRED OFFICIAL ISSUES STATEMENT

NEW WESTMINSTER, Feb. 17.—Internal staff differences at the British Columbia penitentiary came to a head this afternoon when Colonel H. W. Cooper, D.S.O., warden, received instructions from Ottawa that he had been retired "to promote efficiency and harmony," and was ordered to put his institution at once in the hands of the deputy, Major George W. Trollope.

Lack of harmony at the Federal institution has been brewing for some time, it is known, and recently became so acute that Colonel Cooper asked for an interview with the Minister of Justice at Ottawa. This apparently was not granted, and a report from the traveling staff of the department was acted upon.

During his residence in New Westminster since his return from overseas, Colonel Cooper succeeded to the command of the Westminster Regiment and retired from that position only a few months ago in favor of Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon B. Corbould.

COLONEL COOPER'S STATEMENT

Colonel Cooper issued the following statement tonight: "I am in ignorance of the grounds upon which my retirement has been recommended to the Minister of Justice. I was informed that statements had been made affecting the administration of the penitentiary, but full particulars of those statements and the identity of the persons making them was denied me.

"I know of nothing in the record of the British Columbia penitentiary since 1923 to warrant so serious a step. This record is well known to the people of British Columbia. The British Columbia penitentiary is and has been free from troubles which have occurred at some of the other institutions, with escapes, riot and even murder have been known.

SUPERINTENDENT'S CONDUCT

"The report of every inspector was satisfactory until last Fall, when I was forced to protest against the Superintendent of Penitentiaries introducing personal matters into the conduct of the penitentiary. Developments following this protest led me to ask permission to communicate directly with the Minister of Justice, as I was confident he was not informed of these matters.

"This request was not granted.

"I have wired Hon. Ernest Lapointe today for an opportunity to answer any accusers, and must wait the outcome before making any further statement. This in fairness to the honorable gentleman, as he is otherwise entirely dependent upon reports furnished him in this case by the very officials whose conduct I called into question."

Organizations Of Lumbermen Are Combined

SEATTLE, Feb. 17.—A merger of the West Coast Lumber Trade Extension Bureau and the West Coast Lumbermen's Association was approved today, with only one dissenting vote, by the 150 Pacific Northwest lumbermen, whom the associations represent.

The new organization, to begin functioning within the year, is to be known as the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, and will represent a total annual lumber cuttage of more than 5,000,000,000 feet. It is expected that many of the 119 independent lumbermen in the region will join the combined bureaus in an attempt to systemize and advertise the industry.

Colonel W. B. Greely, chief forester of the United States, is to assume the post of secretary-manager of the new association. Robert Allen, secretary-manager of the old association for ten years, tendered his resignation.

Few of Crew on Oil Ship Escape Death or Injury In Explosion and Wreck

Cargo Blows Up Sinking Vessel—Captain and Fourteen Others Killed—Others Save Themselves by Clinging to Driftwood—Most of Survivors in Serious State

Boat Left San Pedro, California, With 65,000 Barrels of Oil Aboard

TOKIO, Feb. 17.—Most of the survivors of the American oil tanker, Chuky, which exploded and sank while en route from San Pedro, Cal., to Yokohama, are in a serious condition, say reports from Misaki, where a Japanese fishing trawler landed twenty-one members of the crew today. According to the bare reports of the accident obtainable now the tanker exploded and sank Wednesday morning approximately a hundred miles southeast of Cape Nochima, Captain C. Hernes and fourteen of the crew were killed in the explosion, it was said. Remaining members of the crew saved themselves by clinging to driftwood until picked up by the trawler. The crew was composed of American, British and Chinese sailors. Both the British and American Consuls have started investigations of the blast.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 17.—Particulars of the disaster in which the American tanker, Chuky, blew up and fifteen persons, including the master, were lost, were given in a cable by agents of the Chile Steamship Company to Mitsubishi Company, of New York, which had the vessel under charter, and received here today by W. H. Wickersham, local agent. The cable follows:

"Lamentable report just to hand from prefecture of police that Chuky exploded near Hachinjoshima Island on February 16 at 11 a.m. Fifteen persons including captain lost and twenty-one saved by fishing boats and carried back to Misaki. We are taking necessary steps, combined with navy and Consul. Please communicate with Chile company's ship Yokohama."

The Chile ship's home office further advised:

"We have cabled Yokohama for further particulars and advised them to take all necessary measures to provide for survivors and cable us names early as possible."

Captain C. Hernes, the master, had his home ashore at Long Beach, Cal., where he is survived by his widow. The Chuky when she departed from San Pedro had 65,000 barrels of fuel oil loaded at Associated Oil Company's station.

Liner Goes in Eighty Minutes London to Paris

LONDON, Feb. 17.—All commercial air speed records between London and Paris were broken today when an Imperial Airways liner covered the 230-mile flight into the French capital in eighty minutes. This is six minutes under the fastest flight previously made in 1921.

HON. DR. TOLMIE ON B. C. FARMS

SKEENA MEMBER'S DEMAND FOR EXPERIMENTAL FARM IS SUPPORTED

Work for Research Department and Commerce Department With Regard to B. C. Fruit

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—A plea for the establishment of an experimental farm in the Skeena district was made this afternoon by James C. Brady, Conservative, Skeena, when the House of Commons gave further consideration to estimates of the Department of Agriculture.

An appropriation of $1,900,000 for experimental farms including necessary new buildings was before the House. Mr. Brady pointed out that Skeena constituency covered a very large area of farming land.

Mr. Brady was supported in his request by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative, Victoria, who said that such a farm would encourage agriculturists to Central and Northern British Columbia.

HON. S. F. TOLMIE

"An experimental farm there is essential to the development and progress of that great country," Hon. S. F. Tolmie asserted. He further told Mr. Motherwell that in 1921 the agricultural experts of the department had recommended the establishment of such a farm. Dr. Tolmie ceased to be Minister of Agriculture in 1921, and since then nothing had been done to give effect to this recommendation.

During the discussion of the estimates, Dr. Tolmie told the minister that British Columbia produced excellent Italian prunes and that the dehydration fruit process might well be applied to these. Also to loganberries, he said, which were abundantly produced in British Columbia, made a palatable wine, but had a restricted market. He hoped the minister would make an effort to secure markets for British Columbia fruits.

COST OF CLEARING

It was asserted by a Prairie member that it took $500 per acre to clear land in British Columbia. To this statement Dr. Tolmie took exception. The cost of clearing land in British Columbia, he informed the House, varied according to location. Where there was heavy timber, the cost was heavy, but there were many areas where there was little timber and the cost correspondingly reduced. In clearing land, he said, there was a great problem what to do with the waste material after logging. He thought this problem should engage the attention of the research council, and an effort made to discover some way, whereby this material could be made revenue producing.

WAVE SWEEPS PASSENGERS

MANY WASHED OVERBOARD FROM DECK OF SAN FRANCISCO FERRYBOAT

All Were Thought to Be Rescued, But Seven Are Now Reported Missing

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Seven persons are missing from the thirty or more swept overboard from the ferryboat Peralta, says a statement issued shortly after midnight by an official of the ferryboat system.

More than thirty passengers on the ferryboat Peralta were washed overboard into San Francisco Bay from the lower deck of the boat late today.

ALL BELIEVED RESCUED

The ferryboat Hayward brought seven persons to shore here, a navy boat from Goat Island was reported to have picked up several more, and the others were believed to have been saved by other ships.

Boats which cruised the scene of the accident reported that no bodies had been sighted nor had any victims been seen struggling in the water.

No reports of missing persons had been received at the police stations. It was believed that had commuters failed to return to their homes anxious relatives would have reported their absence.

Lieut. W. F. Pengelly, of a police launch that cruised the bay, reported that life preservers, hats, coats and other garments dotted the waves but that no bodies had been found.

On the other hand several of those who were in the water and a number of witnesses believed that several persons were drowned.

PANIC FOLLOWS WAVE

J. P. Potter, vice-president of the ferry company, said he believed the accident was due to a heavy wash that swept along after a large lumber schooner passed the Peralta. Panic followed the rush of water. Passengers rushed madly for life preserver racks, and several of them, after adjusting the belts, smashed windows at the side of the ferry and leaped into the water.

At the time, the ferry Hayward, of the same line, had left the Oakland pier and was approaching the Peralta when she struck the wave.

RESEARCH URGED FOR COAL TRADE

coal reserves are amply sufficient for all Canadian requirements for many years, this important industry languishes—as shown by diminishing value year by year.

"The Federal member for Alberni-Comox (Mr. Neill) says when he urges the Dominion authorities to get busy with intelligent research work to ascertain the adaptability of British Columbia bituminous coal for pulverization and for conversion into fuel oil by modern processes—something the Provincial Department of Mines should have been busy with long since if it had been properly functioning. Mr. Woodward, senior member for Vancouver, also discredits the effective work of this minister and this department in seeking to improve the market for British Columbia coal by his resolution before the House on Tuesday. It is peculiarly necessary that steps for the promotion of British Columbia coal marketing be taken now.

"Ontario within the past two years has been at least partially converted to the use of bituminous coal. Heretofore practically all the fuel demands of that sister province, a heavy fuel user in consequence of the severity of its Winters, have been met by importation of Pennsylvania anthracite. Alberta is now getting a footing for its coal products, shipping by trainload lots necessarily. British Columbia has the advantage over Alberta in being able to ship coal through to Ontario by water, in which connection the C.G.M.M. boats offer an especially economic means of transportation. These should be at once studied and something practical done to advertise and stimulate the use of British Columbia coal in Ontario.

RESEARCH WORK

"At the same time reasearch work should be immediately undertaken to ascertain the suitability of our coal for pulverization and oil production. If converted into oil fuel, a commodity of provincial origin will be obtained with advantage in wage roll and operators' profit, to compete with American importations now largely used in Canada. This reasearch work should be initiated with little difficulty.

EXAMPLE AT BAMBERTON

"Investigators have only to go as far as Bamberton, not fifteen miles out of Victoria, to observe how pulverized British Columbia coal may be used with marked advantage. They are using 40,000 tons a year there. It is in use at the cement plant there, and has been for some years, as a result of private experimentation undertaken by the chemists' department of the operating company. The whole matter of scientific research for stimulation of industries utilizing British Columbia resources is properly one for a special department of the provincial university. Such a department would be of exceptional usefulness in devising scientific ways for the avoidance of waste in the manufacture of lumber, too, in fact in stimulating the profitable utilization of by-products of all our raw materials which are now wasted by disregard of economil study.

FISHERIES QUESTION

"This applies equally to fisheries matters, at present a serious issue. The fact that production value in this industry declined during the past year by approximately ten million dollars indicates how serious the situation is. At the same time the authorized conversion of so valuable a food fish as the herring into fertilizer shows how madly improvident grasping business may be, unchecked by conscientious and wide awake official concern for the preservation of our great fish asset. With the authorities in Ottawa now in major control of fisheries interest cannot be expected to sufficiently realize conditions here on the Coast. They are too far away. In this, more perhaps than in any other of our basic industries, provincial control should be exclusive and provincial alertness at its best. It is high time that we made representations to Ottawa, and kept hammering away there until they are successful, to obtain complete provincial control in fisheries matters. In this provincial interest transcends all party considerations. It is not a party matter—it it a provincial and even Canadian concern of paramount importance.

"The House should join during the present session in setting on foot a movement to obtain provincial control in fisheries—and this session should not end without the taking of steps for re-establishment of a scientific research department at the University of British Columbia to concern itself chiefly with development of provincial basic industries by devising new ways and means for the reduction of waste, and the extension of by-products."

MR. STODDART'S POSITION

Mr. McKenzie took the member for Cariboo to task for his references to Mr. Walkem, and his announcement that he was with the Conservative party. The member for Similkameen said that Mr. Walkem announced that he was supporting the Conservatives, which was his option to do. On the other hand, Mr. Stoddart professed his independence, but in his actions he showed that he was always supporting the Liberal party.

The attention of the Premier was called to the fact that the selection of Dr. Tolmie as leader was made at a convention in Kamloops, at which all the leading papers of the province were represented, and that that convention was absolutely open. There was no attempt to close the convention in any shape.

When the Liberal convention was held later, the chief concern at that time seemed to be to attempt to keep the press out, while indignant delegations attempted to express their opinions with respect to the conduct of the party.

Then with respect to the material for the Cabinet and the reports that all was unanimity, the member said that he was informed that when the present Premier was selected that there was not the unanimity represented. Had the sense of the party been taken it was said to be very doubtful if the present Premier or any member of the present Government would have been selected.

SUMAS RECLAMATION

Quoting from a speech of the Premier with respect to the Sumas reclamation plan, the quotation was read in which the Premier said that a profit of $1,000,000 could be made from the area.

Mr. McKenzie said this was altogether wrong. Instead of making the profit that was represented, the project was really behind in operating expenses.

The Premier suggested that the profit might have been made had it not been for the excessive rains.

RAILWAY LANDS

Relative to the return of the railway lands to the province, Mr. McKenzie said that this seemed to be a matter that was brought up with the approach of every election. It could be taken largely along that line that it was now made to play such an important part in the proceedings, and in the speeches from the Premier, and the Attorney-General.

He called attention to the work that was done along this line by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, who by his resolution in the House of Commons had brought about the reappointment of the Royal Commission, and which had resulted in the promised return of the land.

It was a reasonable matter to anticipate this following the decision of the Maritime Commission, and the movement for the return of the natural resources of the prairie provinces to the provinces to which they belonged.

He said that he was quite ready to give all the credit that belonged to the Premier and the Attorney-General in this matter but he felt in the end this would be more than made up for by the Premier and the Attorney-General themselves.

The Dominion Government could not grant concessions to the Marlitimes and the prairies, and not do justice by British Columbia.

The Premier could not escape from the responsibility, said Mr. McKenzie for any one of the thousand blunders that had been committed by the Government since it took power in 1916. He was a member of that Government and must share in the responsibility.

The reduction of a liberal majority in Nelson from 337 to 26 gave the Premier courage, but it was not real courage. "No Government with real courage turns its Cabinet into a family compact," said Mr. McKenzie.

This, he said, was the case under this administration as exemplified in the case of Vancouver, which was left without representation in that Cabinet in spite of the fact that half the population or more lived there. This refusal was due to the fact that this Government was afraid to face an election there.

The Attorney-General was given good share of attention by the member from Similkameen, as he went into the utterances of that member of the Government delivered in his riding of Omineca during the campaign of 1916 and the year previous. The attacks made by Mr. Manson upon the Government of that day were referred to from the columns of The Omineca Herald.

One reference quoted Mr. Manson as referring to the thieving and the corruption, as he described the actions of the Government of that time. This, said Mr. McKenzie was the same man who was now going through the country delivering the high moral speeches of which he was so prone to make use.

Not only had the Attorney-General been guilty of this class of speeches that he objected to so much now, but Hon. T. D. Pattullo had also taken occasion to use the illustration drawn from the case of a bank robbery at New Hazelton, where the citizens had taken the law into their own hands, and brought to justice the perpetrators of the act.

A great deal of amusement was aroused in the House as the member for Similkameen quoted from the manifesto issued by Mr. Manson in that election.

The manifesto set out that there must be development of the mining industry in the North, and he pledged the Liberals to the establishment of Government smelters to care for the British Columbia ores. Smelting, he set out as a Government service, and should be done at cost.

"How many smelters, how many purchasing plants, as advocated by Mr. Manson had been established in that northern country?" asked Mr. McKenzie. He added that he had never heard of one being established.

Then going on with the manifesto the member repeated the demands that Mr. Manson made in the matter of the settlement of the country, which he said was all wrong.

The Premier, referring to Mr. Manson, "He was a young man then."

SETTLERS' AID

Mr. McKenzie, proceeding with his speech, contrasted what he described as the most brazen example of introducing patronage principles into politics, and cited the statement of the Attorney-General at Grand Forks, where he intimated that the riding need not expect much unless they voted with the Government.

Then, in the matter of aiding settlers, the Attorney-General, in 1916, had a very elaborate scheme which he said the Liberals would introduce.

"But," said Mr. McKenzie, "there has not been a thing done in this line to help the settlers." He had a message from that part of the province and the information was there given that the farmers of Smithers and Telkwa were unable to get sale for their hay, while the Premier Mine was importing hay from the United States. The settlers were unable to ship their hay owing to the high rates.

Mr. Manson also advocated that there should be a policy introduced to provide for the development of power in the districts of the province. This Government had had no more to do with the development of the power plants that were in operation in the province than had the Government of South Africa. There were two large corporations that were developing the power in the province, and the Government had nothing to do with that work.

Mr. Manson's promises on civil service reductions were next referred to.

Touching on the secret service of the Government in the administration of the liquor laws, Mr. McKenzie quoted from the remarks of Judge Brown in reference to one of these officers, when the judge said that the man was too far under the influence of liquor to place dependence upon what he said.

P.G.E. RAILWAY

Turning to the P.G.E. Railway, Mr. McKenzie traced the history of policies, and said: "In 1928 we hear of new policies. I say that the taxpayers of this province should know what proposition is contemplated. Surely this serious problem is not something to be held back for political effect. I have heard it suggested that the Peace River lands and the lands set aside by this Government in 1925 be handed to the C.N.R., and that the C.N.R., not having any colonization lands in this province, could then consider the proposal. If this is the scheme, let us have it and discuss it. Let people hear about your plan and let us have an intelligent discussion in this House while the members can still be in touch with their constituents.

"The Conservative party is not going to oppose any sensible solution of the problem—whether it be with the C.N.R. the C.P.R. or any other company. They would welcome it and assist in every way, but they want to know what it is, and the people want to know what it is.

"The Government need not think the P.G.E. will be the only issue in the next election, they have too much to answer for.

"After the first forty-two miles of new construction work was done, involving the expenditure of several million dollars, without tender and without contract, and although the forty-two mile section was to have been completed by January, 1919, the Government in 1922 was still unable to report its cost. In March, 1920, the Premier had informed the Legislature that $4,000,000 would build and fully equip the line from Mile 294 to Prince George, 131 miles. With only seventy miles of this completed, $7,000,000 had been spent.

"And when the contractors asked an increase in the unit prices the chief engineer, in October, 1920, not only granted a thirty per cent increase, but made it date from the previous year's end, the cost of the province being thereby enhanced by half a million dollars.

"In 1920 the contractors were paid $84.50 per thousand plus the five and one-half per cent for 4,000,000 feet of bridge timber, including three-inch planking; and in 1921 the contractors agreed to accept $62 per thousand, plus the five and one-half per cent, or $6 per thousand, for 5,000,000 feet. This was not for timber in place, but in the material yard. The current price for bridge timber in 1920 at any responsible mill on the coast was $40 to $50, and in 1921 that price had fallen to $20 to $25. Such items go far to explain the enormous expenditure on P.G.E. construction under Liberal control. The accounts of the Northern Construction Company went unaudited after the Government took over the work.

SCHOOL FOR PROSPECTORS

One hears it stated many times that the old prospector is disappearing, and the young generation are not given to this line of occupation. Perhaps there is a good reason, as old-timers in this province can recall the names of many old prospectors who were themselves out in search of the precious metal always fervently hoping against hope that they strike the rich ore that would lead to fortune and fame.

Some eight years ago the Ontario Department of Mines instituted what is known as a "school for prospectors" during the Winter months, and one has only to recall to mind the enormous development that has taken place in the vast mining centres of Ontario to be convinced of the wisdom of establishing schools of instruction. Government experts are familiar with the various localities in which the schools are conducted, and advice is given the prospector as to where he should carry on his work. They are discouraged from wandering too far afield.

With respect to the growing of tobacco, Mr. McKenzie pleaded that the Government take steps to relieve the situation. If something were not done along this line, the farmers who raised tobacco last year would not do it this year. The tobacco remained on hand. He advised that the Agent-General be got in touch with, so that something might be attempted to sell the tobacco, and if possible arrange for the financing of it.

TOURIST TRADE

There was a lot of money spent on tourists. He advocated that something be done to give aid in stocking some of the streams where there were not fish now. This would give a healthy sport for the local residents. In this connection he referred to what was done in Cranbrook by united action by the local people.

After touching upon the roads and the heavy cost of the Cariboo, and the roads at the coast where paved avenues were provided, the member said that the time had come when something should be done for the Interior to connect that part with the southern part of the coast. In this way there would be a saving of 400 miles between Nelson and Vancouver effected. There was a passable road over a considerable part of it, but there remained some twenty-five miles that should be coupled up.

He advised the Minister of Public Works to secure more up-to-date machinery for use on the roads.

The absentee ballot was attacked owing to the facility with which ballots could be changed. In 1924 he had raised objections owing to the dangers that he saw, but was told that precautions were being taken. He produced envelopes to show that this was not done.

SCHOOL BOOKS

Dealing with the book situation, Mr. McKenzie called the attention of the House to the primary books that he produced, and which were published in the United States.

He referred to the American coinage displayed and the American flag.

Someone asked: "Is there a British flag in it."

Mr. Ian Mackenzie interjected: "Keep the flag out of it."

The Premier said that these books could not be got in Canada. He said that they were selected by a committee of educationalists of about fifteen in number.

Mr. McKenzie said that he could not believe that they could not produce books like these, adapted for the use of Canadian pupils in this country.

RUNAWAY TRUCK IN MAIN STREET

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17.—A truck which ran driverless down Granville Street from Broadway to Seventh Avenue, at 1 p.m., struck and caused serious injury to Walter Scott, 2854 St. George Street, who made a brave attempt to stop the car from doing serious damage.

Scott was taken to the General Hospital. It is reported that both legs are crushed.

Lam Suey, Pender Street East, owner of the truck, left it standing at the top of Granville Street hill, near Broadway, with the engine running. While he was away, the truck started down the hill, increasing its speed rapidly.

At Seventh Avenue it swerved to the right and Scott, who was standing on the corner, attempted to stop it. It passed on, broke through the window of a furrier at 2245 Granville Street, and stopped.

'HALF-TRUTH' WORRIES DR. SUTHERLAND

MAKES COMPARISON

To show the effectiveness of the economical methods employed by the Department of Public Works in road construction, Dr. Sutherland gave figures showing the cost of graveling roads in Esquimalt riding in 1916 under the Conservative regime to have been $2.60 a yard, whereas the cost of graveling highways in the same district now was ninety-five cents a yard.

He favored the absentee vote when it had been introduced and he was still in favor of it, unless something else were introduced to guarantee the workingman his vote, Dr. Sutherland said, referring to the manner in which lumbermen, railwaymen and miners constantly move from one part of the country to another.

"I don't know that I ever heard so much abuse directed at a leader of the province as I heard from the leader of the Opposition yesterday afternoon," Dr. Sutherland declared.

He then read a letter written by a member of the Victoria Conservative Association in which it was stated that $1 was offered for securing six names on the provincial voters' list.

The Minister denied that the proposal to build the West Coast road had originated with the leader of the Opposition, declaring that it had been the programme of his department for several years to put the road to Sooke in good condition and then to extend it.

FULL VALUE FOR MONEY

The lowest bid got the contract on the Fraser Canyon road, Dr. Sutherland declared, adding that the contract was let on the unit price system and that the province had got full value for its money.

The House had heard much to the effect that subcontractors got eighty cents a yard and the Palmer Construction Company $2 a yard for road work, and that the latter got the difference for doing nothing. That was "perfect rot." The contractor had to make a bid based on average cost. Some of the work had cost over $6 a yard to handle. The leader of the Opposition had referred very abusively to the Premier, but Dr. Sutherland could not help it if Mr. Pooley could not understand the public accounts of the Province of Saswkatchewan and could not interpret the statutes of that province correctly. Premier MacLean was not in the habit of being inaccurate and it was well known that he could back up any statement he made.

The unit price system of contracts had been used in 1914 and 1915, Dr. Sutherland said, instancing the construction of the Pitt River bridge. The policy of the department was to demand a marked cheque and get the cash—if not, to ask for Victory Bonds or Federal or Provincial Government bonds. At the same time a fifteen per cent hold-back was insisted upon.

Subcontractors had to be furnished with equipment and financed by the main contractors, Dr. Sutherland pointed out.

FRASER CANYON ROAD

The Fraser Canyon road had been extended beyond what was originally anticipated and consequently had exceeded the original estimate of cost, the Minister went on, contending that roads built by the Conservatives had frequently cost more than estimated.

Averaging the cost of road, trail and bridge construction by the Conservatives from 1911 to 1914, Dr. Sutherland declared that they had spent $826,000 a year more than had been expended on an average by the present Government in the four years after the war.

Referring to the department's experimentation with three snowploughs for clearing roads, the Minister said they had been proved satisfactory and that more machines would probably be obtained to keep open main highways in the Interior, particularly during the Winter months. Operated under a double shift system one of these machines would open up from fifty to sixty miles of highway every twenty-four hours, he said.

Dr. Sutherland declared he objected to statements of half-truth in criticism of the Public Works Department.

"As far as the Public Works Department is concerned, if the Opposition or anybody else, for that matter, would tell the whole facts I would not be worried a bit by any of their criticism," he stated.

The Opposition leader should not refer to the contractors doing work for the Government with jeers and sneers, the Minister said. He should not use such phrases as "Colonel Ryan and men of his ilk." The contractors were honest men doing more good for the province and the Dominion than the leader of the Opposition had ever done.

JOINT MEETING HELD IN LONDON AND N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—British and United States scientists held a thirty-five minutes joint session yesterday, spanning the 3,000 miles of ocean with the transatlantic radio telephone.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers, holding its Winter convention here, and the British Institute of Electrical Engineers, meeting in London, exchanged greetings and then listened to several addresses by members on either side of the Atlantic. The voices were always clear and distinct.

VANCOUVER CHARTER

Questions Are Raised in Course of Discussion of Personnel of Police Commission

Vancouver city's request for legislation that would prohibit farmers in the Greater Vancouver area from the right to appeal from the court of revision, was rejected by the private bills committee of the House yesterday, when the bill for the amendment of the Vancouver City Charter was under discussion.

Mr. Robert McBride, of South Vancouver, pointed out that the farmers' holdings are assessed as city property and have to contend in the battle for economic independence with wealthy city properties.

The committee rejected Mr. McBride's request for a maximum assessment of $250 on farm lands.

The Greater Vancouver Police Commisison will be an appointive body, consisting of the Mayor as an ex-officio chairman, and four commissioners chosen by the City Council. Endorsation of this proposal was given after Mr. George E. McCrossan, Vancouver corporation counsel, had explained that it had the support of all three uniting municipalities and of the Government as well.

After a prolonged argument, a further city request for repeal of the charter section making the city liable for the condition of its streets, was stood over so that compromise suggestions might be prepared.

WHEAT TO BE SHIPPED WEST

Mr. John Blue Tells Chamber of Commerce That Pacific Coast Ports Are Natural Outlets for Grain

TICKET AGENTS TO PAY VISIT HERE

"Pacific Coast ports are the natural outlets for wheat. Our great commodity on the prairies is wheat, and there are 200,000,000 bushels of it in Alberta. Our farmers are much in favor of shipping their wheat westward, and if the people of the Pacific Coast can supply the facilities we will send you every bushel we can," Mr. John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade, told the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Mr. Blue, who was accorded a warm welcome, said that people on the prairie had looked upon Victoria as a beautiful playground, but now that Victoria is going to have a grain elevator and terminals, they would look forward to Victoria's development in industry, and make the most of the facilities here.

The speaker said some of the matters that had been engaging the Victoria Chamber of Commerce had also been considered by the Edmonton Board of Trade, which was an indication of the way the chambers of commerce and boards of trade were working along identical lines in the building up of a greater and more prosperous Canada.

TOURIST TRAFFIC

The tourist traffic was an important and increasing business, and he believed that there should be no regulations interfering with the entertainment and enjoyment of visitors to this country.

Mr. Blue conveyed the greetings of the Edmonton trade organization to the local chamber, and invited members of the chamber to pay a visit to Alberta's capital city.

Between 1,000 and 1,200 American railway ticket agents will visit Victoria on Monday, September 17, the directors of the chamber were advised in a communication from the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle.

COMING IN SEPTEMBER

The American Association of Railway Ticket Agents, an organization which the Seattle chamber describes as probably the most influential group of individuals in contact with the traveling public, will hold its annual convention in Seattle from September 13 to 17, and the entire party of delegates will come over to Victoria on the Ss. President Pierce on the last day of the conclave.

On the suggestion of Mr. George I. Warren, the directors decided to appoint a committee of transportation men to act with the publicity bureau in arranging for the programme for the ticket agents while they are in Victoria.

The chamber directors endorsed Empire Shopping Week, April 14 to 21, to bring prominently to the fore the produce and manufactures of Canada and other Empire countries, and to encourage citizens to purchase Empire goods. The chamber's representatives on the local committee in connection with the Empire Shopping Week are Mr. C. P. Hill and Major H. Cuthbert Holmes.

An invitation to visit Victoria's first complete electrical home at the corner of Linden Avenue and Oscar Street was received from the Victoria Electrical Association, and accepted with thanks.

ACTION ENDORSED

The directors gave their support to the action of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to secure the managing control of the May 24 celebration here. Mr. William T. Straith, vice-president of the Junior Chamber, outlined the organization's proposal to the meeting.

Announcement was made that the chamber's industrial group would hold its next meeting on Wednesday at noon, when the speaker-guest will be Mr. F. M. Black, chairman of the Committee of Direction under the Marketing Act. All members of the Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend this gathering.

Messrs. William Duncan, Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Warren William Martin, Strathcona Hotel, were accepted into the membership of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

President C. P. W. Schwengers welcomed to the meeting Reeve E. C. Hayward, of Oak Bay, who through the municipal office he holds, becomes ex-officio a member of the Chamber of Commerce directorate.

CARIBOO MEMBER APPEALS FOR P.G.E.

Mr. D. A. Stoddart Says There Are Too Many Police in Small Towns of Interior

"Some of the small towns of the Interior are over-policed, and I have no hesitation in saying so," declared Mr. D. A. Stoddart, Provincial, Cariboo, speaking in the budget debate in the House yesterday.

Addressing the Attorney-General, Mr. Stoddart declared that the spectacle of three or four policemen idle in the small town made hard-working people "sore."

"And the member has to bear the brunt," he added.

Mr. Stoddart declared the cattle industry in the Interior was not thriving. He held that reciprocity with the United States would have improved conditions for the stockmen. After referring to the need for more pasturage, he declared that if the Minister of Lands was satisfied with the work of the grazing commission, he was the only one, outside of a favored few, in the province, who was satisfied.

The electors had voted for the construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway by an overwhelming majority, he said, adding that it was not a good advertisement for the northern part of the province to have the road in its present condition.

Mr. Stoddart urged further aid for traveling libraries.

He said he had been criticized by opposition members for supporting the Government too strongly, but that he was responsible to his electors and not to the opposition. Declaring that Major G. A. Walkem, Conservative, Richmond-Point Grey, and former Provincial, had been eager for a long time to jump over the political fence, Mr. Stoddart said the former was evidently desirous of the Conservative nomination in Point Grey.

LOCAL OFFICER RETURNS HOME

Colonel J. C. Harris Brings Back Trophy Won by 56th Battery in Annual Competition

Colonel J. C. Harris, officer commanding Fifth B. C. Coast Brigade, returned to the city on Thursday after spending two days in Ottawa attending the fifty-third annual meeting of the Canadian Artillery Association. The trip to the local officer was a pleasant duty. Proceeding to the Dominion capital he took with him a trophy which officers of his brigade have presented to the C.A.A. for competition among anti-aircraft units throughout Canada. On the return visit he brought back the Governor-General's trophy which was won by the Fifty-Sixth Battery of the Fifth B. C. Coast Brigade. Major J. B. Clearihue, commander of the Fifty-Sixth, was unable to make the trip.

In presenting the trophy, Lord Willingdon, Governor-General, complimented Colonel Harris on the success of the Coast unit. Last year was the third in succession that the Governor-General's cup had been won by a Victoria battery.

REFUNDING LOAN BILL EXPLAINED

Measure Passes Second Reading After Premier Shows That Province Will Save

Legislation extending to 1980 the period for the refunding of certain British Columbia loans passed second reading in the House yesterday after Premier MacLean had explained its purpose was simply to permit the Government to get higher returns on the money.

The Premier said the province had $1,875,000 invested in short term bonds that would expire in the next few months. This amount was made up of unexpended portions of three different loans that would have to be refunded by 1945 according to the existing enactments, he said.

Unless the refunding period was prolonged, he went on, the money would have to be put into short term bonds again as they had only seventeen years to run to 1945. As more attractive prices could be secured for thirty-year bonds, he explained, it was proposed to alter the legislation to take advantage of the present condition of the money market.

TRUST COMPANIES

Second reading was also given new trust companies legislation introduced by Attorney-General Manson to bring extra-provincial concerns under British Columbia regulations.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, piloted through second reading amendments to the Milk Act giving municipalities the option of deciding whether grade B milk be pasteurized or not.

Attorney-General Manson's new bill requiring municipalities to bear a share of the costs of the distribution of automobile licences was also considered on second reading but the debate was adjourned by Mr. G. A. Walkem, Richmond-Point Grey.

Mr. Manson explained that a few years ago, when cars were few in number and municipalities in serious financial trouble the Government had been agreeable to bearing the whole cost of administration.

EXPLAINS CHANGE

Now, however, he pointed out, administrative costs were much greater and the municipalities at the same time were back on their feet. Accordingly it was proposed to deduct the costs of administration before paying the municipalities their grants from motor licence receipts, he said, as was already done in respect of pari-mutuel profits. The change would mean little to the individual municipality, he declared.

A new act giving Small Debts Courts jurisdiction in actions for damages up to $100 was also considered, but the discussion was adjourned by Mr. R. H. Pooley, Opposition leader. The main purpose of the bill, Mr. Manson explained, was to permit autoists to take small claims to law. Hundreds of claims were abandoned every year because it would cost more than the amounts at stake to take them to the County Court, he said.

THE PAYMENT OF ALDERMEN

Alderman Marchant in the letters he has written to this newspaper on the subject of aldermanic indemnities proves himself a staunch adherent of the policy that to the victors at the polls are due fruits of office. His defence dismisses the contention that aldermen are not overworked. In fact it may be gathered from his own story of his record of service that the has been assiduity itself; that he has sacrificed his time and pleasures; that he has been most hardily treated because, instead of the niggardly $400 per annum, he has not received the $1,000 or $1,200 which he believes should be the meed of aldermanic office. In effect the sum and substance of Alderman Marchant's argument is that aldermen should be paid, just like employees in any other business, for what they do, and the estimate that has been placed on their services is the $1,000 or $1,200 per annum in a city of this size.

Our aldemen have been faithful servants of the city. They have given a good deal of their time to municipal duties; time during which many of them might have been taking their otium cum dignitate as the guerdon of their services in other directions. Most of our aldermen have been, in years gone by, well-to-do men; some have been, and yet are, business men in responsible positions, but it is only a modicum of the latter that complain of insufficient indemnity for public services. What Alderman Marchant omits to mention is that the taxpayers are the employers and it should be for the taxpayers to say whether or not there ought to be an increase in the pay which members of the City Council now receive. We believe public opinion is against an additional indemnity. The conception which many entertain of elective offices is that they are honorable posts in which the confidence of the public is an adequate reward. There is a principle involved in not making elective posts the prey of job-hunters, or of the nominees of political machines. It is quite clear that Alderman Marchant does not understand, or, if he does, will not appreciate this line of argument. He is an exponent of the doctrine that the victors at the polls should dip into the municipal treasury in a way commensurate with the services which they perform. This argument to be logical should make rewards fit in with the work done, yet it is a notorious fact that some aldermen work much harder than others and bring to their tasks greater acumen, more business ability, and better brains than their colleagues in office. On the terms of any reasoning to the effect that they should be paid for services rendered they should be paid in proportion to those services, not on the basis of a cast iron scale that brings all down to a dull monetary level. Alderman Marchant, since he believes his case is so strong, should have no hesitation in advocating its submission to the taxpayers. They are entitled to be consulted since it is their money that it is proposed should be spent to increase aldermanic indemnities.

NEED OF FOREST CONSERVATION

Mr. T. D. Pattullo is in error in his belief that the sole reason why so many people, including forestry experts, are urging forest conservation in British Columbia is because there is a desire to prejudice the minds of the people against the Provincial Government. The Minister of Lands, whatever his own viewpoints and prejudices, should give the benefit of the doubt to those who are not in the habit of "thinking politically." Where the Government is incidentally attacked is because of what it has failed to do, through the lack of policies which should assure the maintenance of timber resources for generations yet to come.

Mr. Pattullo says that his Forest Service is of opinion that the annual increment of forest wealth is about equal to the annual cut and devastation from fire and disease combined. We recall a time when the Forest Branch of the Department of Lands was responsible for the statement that the annual increment was from five to six times as great as the cut and devastation from all causes. There has been a considerable modification of opinion in this respect judging from Mr. Pattullo's latest utterance. The fact is that the idea that British Columbia's forests show no signs of exhaustion is entertained nowhere outside the coterie from whom Mr. Pattullo receives his advices. Elsewhere, throughout the Empire, among forestry experts, among timber operators and among the traveling public who see for themselves, there is not a shadow of doubt entertained that through the annual production, through wasteful processes in that production and because of the ravages of fire and disease, the forests of British Columbia are being steadily denuded.

One of the largest timber operators Vancouver Island has ever known, and one responsible for the erection of one of our largest mills, stated shortly before his death recently, that at the present rate of cutting and destruction of forest resources all the accessible and merchantable timber of Vancouver Island would be practically gone within a space of thirty years. The Empire Forestry Board has dealt again and again with the forest resources of the Empire, particularly in the matter of soft woods, and has pointed out the imperative need of conservation. It is pertinent to ask Mr. Pattullo if methods of conservation, which are found essential everywhere else throughout the Empire, and particularly in Quebec and in Ontario in this Dominion, are unnecessary in British Columbia? That is not the opinion entertained by anyone outside the Forest Branch of the Department of Lands of this province. The experience of the Pacific Coast of the United States should be a sufficient warning to any administration that a time has come, and came some time ago under the present dispensation of the timber industry when conservation methods must be applied if posterity is to enjoy its share of this great but disappearing resource.

We agree with Mr. Pattullo that fire prevention is a prerequisite in forest conservation. His department deserves congratulations for what it is doing in this respect, though its efforts are largely dependent on the character of the weather and the strict enforcement of conditions of safety. The Minister of Lands affirms that unless the high lead system of logging is maintained here British Columbia's timber industry will not be able to compete with that on the American side. Therefore, the Government's conclusion is that it is necessary to pursue a method which creates a fire hazard, which estops new growth and which is fraught with palpable wastefulness. Mr. Pattullo deprecates the idea that the timber industry is not so prosperous as it should be because of the export of unmanufactured logs, although millions of dollars would be put into circulation here through the development of the manufacturing industry, were either an embargo or a heavy tax placed on such exports. The problem of erosion on the hillsides he dismisses as one of infinitesimal character. He does not admit that in any direction a policy of reforestation is needed, although, once again it may be said that forestry experts everywhere, and particularly in countries which have had a far longer experience of the governance of timber resources than has British Columbia, are persuaded that reforestation is vital to the maintenance of a supply.

In short, in conjunction with the fire preventive methods employed in British Columbia, Mr. Pattullo believes that Nature is doing all that is necessary to conserve the provincial forest resources for an untold period of time. The whole tenor of his speech is a political defence of his Department, a denial that it is leaving anything undone, an attempt to show that those who deal with British Columbia's forest resources outside his own Department, are at sea on the subject. The Minister of Lands has all the constructive advice that is necessary for him in the experience of every land which has had to cope with the forest problem. The main advice is the necessity, in fact the imperativeness, of a reforestation policy which, as elsewhere, could be carried on in conjunction with a land settlement policy and sustained without interruption. If he does not follow this advice the only logical conclusion that can be reached is that he and his Government are persuaded that they have no obligation to legislate for posterity by preserving what has been shown, up to date, to be the greatest resource which British Columbia enjoys.

Among miscellaneous votes in the estimates of the Provincial Government for 1928-1929 there is an item of $63,500 for "general publicity." How is this vote to be spent and under the aegis of what branch of the Department of Finance? Undoubtedly the Government's facilities for publicity of the right kind have been severely handicapped for many years past. It has been too much absorbed with the preoccupation of cementing its party fortunes. With this preoccupation, and in view of a general election impending, the Legislature will no doubt examine very closely what it is proposed to do with a publicity vote of $63,500.

The psychology induced by American advertising methods is so strong that it has led to an erroneous conclusion, apparently widely disseminated. Thirty-nine out of forty students at the Ottawa Collegiate Institute answered the question as to who was the first airman to cross the Atlantic by saying Colonel Lindbergh. Such an answer is a reflection on educational methods at the Ottawa Institute.

HEIGHTS BEYOND THE DESERT

Some crumpled-rose-leaf mountains from forty miles away,
Are leading me toward them through all the blazing day.
Some crumpled-rose-leaf mountains, flecked here and there with blue,
They call to me and beckon as elfin hands might do.

And deeper pink beyond them a double summit towers,
Like Chronos, grave and weary, above the younger Powers.
Behind me the Sahara, before—those barren crags,
And with me the old hunter, illustrious in his rags.

When I am back in London, among the hoardings' blaze,
And pictures of bad food and salt that men are paid to praise;
When, bright with lights that dim the stars, the foolish words are writ,
To crumpled-rose-leaf mountain my thoughts will fly from it.

—Lord Dunsany.

Truth is great, certainly, but, considering her greatness, it is curious what a long time she is apt to take about prevailing.—Thomas Henry Huxley.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Prohibition which does not completely prohibit has cost the Government of the United States millions of dollars, but neither the Government nor the people of the United States begrudge the tremendous sums spent in attempts to enforce Prohibition, for they say the benefits which have resulted in the country from the more or less successful attempts to enforce the law are worth the money. It is true that Prohibition has not emptied the jails as the advocates of Prohibition predicted it would; but it has filled the coffers of the banks to overflowing, which nobody anticipated it would. At least the banks have more gold in their strong boxes than they ever had before; and if that desirable state of affairs is not to be attributed to Prohibition it is at least coincidental with the advent of Prohibition and is an argument in support of the virtues of Prohibition.

* * *

While the Government of the United States has never expressed itself in favor of Prohibition, many of the most prominent practical politicians are ardent supporters of the Prohibition law. The practical politician can always be relied upon to support any measure which has a strong public opinion behind it. It is not the practicability of a measure that appeals to the practical politician. It is the strength of the vote behind the measure that determines the attitude of the practical politician. Besides, the enforcement of Prohibition calls for a large annual Congressional appropriation and the employment of an army of Government employees to draw their salaries from that appropriation. Under a democratic form of Government there is always a multitude of people eager and anxious to serve the state—and that is as true of our own democracy as it is of the democracy of the United States.

* * *

But a curious feature of Prohibition in the United States is that the cost of attempting to enforce it is falling upon Canada as well as upon the United States. Canada tried an experiment with Prohibition, and that experiment proved a failure, probably not because the law was not good but because public opinion was not strongly in favor of it, and it could not be effectively enforced. At any rate, and whatever the reason, Prohibition is not a law in Canada. It is a law in the United States, and a law we could not enforce in Canada we are helping to enforce in the United States, either as a matter of principle or as a gesture of friendliness to the people of the United States. There is a good deal of talk in legislatures and in other places these days of co-operation, compulsory or voluntary. The attitude of Canada in this matter is an example of the virtue of voluntary co-operation, for we are sure there has been no compulsion employed or suggested. The Government of the United States made a friendly appeal to the Government of Canada and the Government of Canada received the appeal in a friendly spirit and is acting upon it in a friendly way.

* * *

The consequence of this friendly act is that the cost to Canada during the past year of assisting the United States to enforce Prohibition was a sum considerably in excess of a million dollars. Not a tremendous sum, to be sure, compared with the object for which it was spent. But the cost to Canada since the Government responded to the appeal of the Government of the United States has shown a progressive increase, and if it continues to increase in a relative ratio, within a few years it may amount to millions of dollars. For Canada, like the United States, has created preventive forces upon land and water, and those forces are being steadily augmented.

* * *

Thus Prohibition in the United States may be considered an active political issue in Canada as well as in the United States; but Prohibition may be considered an active business issue in Canada as well as an active political issue. The political issue will arise sooner or later of how far Canada is justified in going and how much Canada is justified in spending in performing an act of friendliness to the United States. For businesses that in Canada and other countries are considered legitimate are being suppressed in order to assist the Government of the United States in its attempts to enforce a local law. Money is abundant in the treasury of the United States and taxation is being reduced. Money is not so aboundant in Canada and there is an irresistible demand for reduction in taxation. The cost of government in Canada is not so low that we can afford to spend millions in enrolling and maintaining forces engaged in enterprises which are none of our business, but exclusively the business of a foreign country.

SCIENCE VS. RELIGION

Part V.

Sir,—We come now to the crucial and most important point in the whole controversy of science vs. religion.

Supposing some scientist started a theory and an argument saying that diamonds were evolved from ordinary stones. Of course other scientists would deny it. But do you suppose that the man in the street would care or take interest in the argument? Certainly not. The possessor of diamonds does not care a brass farthing what they were evolved from. It does not concern him in any way, and all he knows and cares is that he is the owner of a jolly fine and valuable diamond necklace. Then why does the man in the street who, presumably, is perfectly satisfied with the appearance and condition of himself and his friends and relatives—why should he resent so strongly being told that his ancestors were jolly fine amoebas? Simply because you are touching him on a vital spot, viz., his religion. "Man is a religious animal." Naturally so, being in God's image. There is no nation in the world that does not believe in a god or gods of some sort.

Let us consider what might be the view on this evolution question of the man in the street, a normal individual neither vastly scholarly nor rabidly religious, but who might describe himself as a British Empire Christian. What do we mean by that term? First of all: what is a Christian? A Christian is a believer in the religion of Christ. Who is Christ, what is His religion, and where do we learn about Christ and His religion? The answer to that is, of course, the Bible. The Bible is the foundation or starting point of every religion, creed or sect that calls itself Christian.

Those of course who, like your correspondent, are so advanced in intelligence that they have no use for "that old Asiatic Book," the Bible, are, of course, not Christians in the proper sense of the word, and this question of evolution is of no more importance to them than it is to a Mohammedan or Hindu.

Now why British Empire Christian? Because the British Empire is nationally Protestant and although Protestants, Roman Catholics, Christian Scientists, Theosophists and the dozens of other sects and creeds base their belief on the Bible, yet the difference between them and Protestantism is very simple, but at the same time very important. All the others, although starting with and on the Bible, very soon diverge and hold different opinions, each under their own leaders and their leaders' writings or books.

The Roman Catholics have the writings of the Holy Fathers and the traditions of the church, etc. The Christian Scientists have Mrs. Eddy's science and health and so on. So that if there happens to be a difference of opinion between the Bible and the writings, etc., then the Bible takes second place. But with the Protestants this is different—they stand or fail by the Bible and they have no other authority or guide to take its place. Moreover the Bible is a single book, so that if you discredit Vol. I. the Old Testament, you cut away the foundations of Vol. II. the New Testament, and Christianity falls to the ground, and without the New Testament, the Old Testament is an incomplete fragment. "Christ is latent in the Old Testament, and patent in the New."

As one writer puts it: "When men demolish a building they begin at the top. Bible critics are trying to remove the foundations and leave the top stone. If Abraham goes, Christ must go with him. As it is impossible to destroy Christ and His teaching, the Old Testament foundations which He verified, must also remain. Our Lord stands on the 'Law and the Prophets,' and man cannot destroy them without first removing Him."

Evolutionists and Modernists are doing this by declaring Genesis to be myths and legends.

Is not, therefore, the man in the street the British Empire Christian right in resenting the teaching of Evolution and Modernism which cut away his only guide to religion and leave him stranded? England has been called the "People of the Book." England's greatness is very largely dependent on that Book, the Bible, in more ways than one.

When the preachers in our pulpits, and the teachers of our coming clergy at the theological colleges are disloyal to their country, their faith and their ordination vows in disbelieving the Word of God by teaching evolution, by denying the Virgin Birth, by saying that Genesis is myths and legends, and the prophecies, because they fail to understand them, they call allegorical and not to be taken seriously, and so on, is it any wonder, unless provided with spectacular materialism in some form or another, that our churches are empty. "If the trumpet giveth forth an uncertain sound, who shall array himself for the battle?"

Luckily for the British Empire there are still many able scholarly and noble men who agree with Sir Walter Scott when he wrote concerning the Bible:

"Within this awe-full Volume lies
The mystery of mysteries.
Happiest they of the human race
To whom God has given grace
To read, to fear, to hope, to pray,
To lift the latch, to force the way,
And better had they ne'er been born
Who read to doubt, or read to scorn."

ALDERMANIC INDEMNITIES

Sir,—Again reverting to the subject of aldermanic indemnities, and to your statement that "the duties of the office are neither onerous nor exacting, and any elected representative can carry on his ordinary duties without loss while serving in the capcity of alderman." May I point out that I do not know of any alderman who has been in active business or professional life in the last six years, but who has complained of the enormous interference with his occupation that the office entails. If you will but canvass the men you personally know in active life you will find that scarcely one in fifty will yield to a request that he should enter the municipal field. Most of them know that it involves sacrifice of time and money, to say nothing of an overdose of caustic criticism and unjust innuendoes as well as a limitation of control over their own affairs.

Let me mention my own share of municipal work. In common with all the council I attend regularly every Monday evening, which usually involves four hours' absence from home. I am chairman of the Public Works Committee, a member of the Parks and Boulevards Committee, including the Ross Bay Cemetery, and of the Health and Morals, Electric Light Power and Market Committees. These committees meet every week on Friday, and usually take up the whole of the afternoon. Then I am chairman of the Civic Service Committee, which is engaged in the colossal work of trying to unify, classify and co-ordinate the whole of the employees of the city.

This work has never even been attempted before, and two or three years go I suggested that a special survey by qualified commissioners should be made, but the majority of the council declined to vote the necessary supply; hence, as the need was insistent, the Civil Service Committee is attempting it. The same committee is constituted as the Superannuation Committee, for which (although superannuation was made compulsory by the Legislature), they receive unqualified abuse. I serve on the Court of Revision on Assessment (last year I was chairman), and this work involves usually ten or twelve sittings of about three hours duration, besides personal visitation of many of the properties subject to appeal.

I represent the City Council on the Library Board, which calls for at least one meeting each month.

The joint committee known as the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee, requires about four meetings each year, one of which practically takes a whole day, as all the parks and beaches are visited for inspection purposes.

Then the functions, entertainments and institutions that form part of the duties or privileges of the aldermen, constitute a heavy tax upon both time and money, but which cannot easily be avoided.

May I inform your readers that during the month of January, when I became Acting Mayor in the absence of Mayor Pendray, that there was scarcely an evening that I enjoyed at my own home, as I was then carrying the double duty of acting mayor and alderman in the various committees that I have detailed. Last year I worked with ex-Alderman Holmes on the Industrial and Zoning Committee, concerning which it is sufficient to say that scarcely a week passed without prolonged and anxious consultations taking place regarding the progress of the work or proposals.

Other aldermen have similar experiences, and it is a complete travesty of the facts to say that there is but little to do. I venture humbly to suggest that not even the occupant of the august editorial chair in newspaper work in this city spends greater time or more anxious thought over his editorial work than I spent last year over the work involved in the office of alderman. I venture to assert that in the Province of British Columbia you will not find any business institution whose turnover is of the same proportion as that of the City of Victoria—two and one-half millions per year—that would suggest paying its directors the munificent sum of $400 per year! But if such a business or institution could be unearthed, even the shareholders would not "rub it in" by asking them to believe that such work should be performed for the honor of the thing.

Nor do I think that any person whose judgment is worth anything would seriously contend that representatives of such momentous concerns as that of parliament, legislature, municipal council or school board should give their time freely for the benefit of all. It is wretchedly poor argument to say that persons offer themselves as candidates because they like the importance of the position. If they did not like the position, would they be fit occupants for it? Is indifference to honor, service, or usefulness to be counted as a special recommendation?

For my own part I glory in seeing young manhood and womanhood fitting themselves by study, inquiry and investigation for the highest offices in the gift of the people and court the closest investigation into all and sundry public duties and service for all who take part therein, but I do deprecate the cheeseparing penuriousness which will withhold proper payment for loyal and honest service.

COLLISION IN AIR

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Feb. 17.—A British pilot was killed today during a mock aerial combat when two fighting planes from the Hawkinge Aerodrome collided one thousand feet over Folkestone. Both planes fell and one burst into flames.

Pilot Officer Watson jumped from his plane with a parachute, but he was fatally injured. The pilot of the other machine made a successful jump.

ELEPHANT KILLS MR. W. C. JUDD

Saved President Roosevelt From Being Slain by Lion During East African Expedition

UNCLE RESIDES AT SHAWNIGAN

News has been received here of the death in a tragic manner of Mr. William C. Judd, a famous big game hunter and a nephew of Mr. Cuthbert Gostling, of Savira Lodge, Shawnigan. He was killed in the Masolgaleni district of Kenya Colony, East Africa, while engaged in elephant hunting. Mr. Judd had wounded an elephant which had charged him. His son, who accompanied him, jumped in between the elephant and his father and fired at the beast, but the elephant brushed him aside with his trunk and rushed on at Mr. Judd, impaling him with his tusks. He died shortly afterwards in his son's arms.

The late Mr. Judd was a great friend of the late Colonel Roosevelt, ex-President of the United States. Colonel Roosevelt when he was in Africa with his son, Kismet, made Mr. Judd's home his headquarters, and Mr. Judd was their pilot and guide all through their hunting trips. Colonel Roosevelt once told Mr. Gostling, Mr. Judd's uncle, that he owed his life to Mr. Judd when in the veldt, lion hunting. A wounded lion had charged the colonel, whose rifle had been discharged. Mr. Judd saw the danger he was in, and before the lion could reach Colonel Roosevelt he dropped the beast in its tracks at the Colonel's feet.

LIVELY INCIDENT MARKS DEBATE

Attempted Exclusion of Rev. Principal Vance From Floor Taken to Legislature by Mr. Pooley

An incident in which Rev. Principal Vance, of the Anglican Theological College, Vancouver, was made to play a prominent part, came up on the floor of the House yesterday.

"Before the orders of the day are taken up," said Mr. R. H. Pooley, Opposition leader, "I wish to refer to something that occurred in this House yesterday afternoon of a very serious nature, dealing with a matter affecting the rights and privileges of members of this House.

"I protest with all the force at my command the gross infringement of the rights of members of this House by the Attorney-General, the dominant Minister of the Crown. As Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition it becomes my duty to protect the rights and privileges of members, especially on this side of the House—rights and privileges that are common to all.

"On Thursday afternoon the Attorney-General saw fit to infringe upon those rights, and at the same time, publicly—within the very precincts of this Chamber—grossly insult Rev. Principal W. H. Vance, a highly respected divine and citizen well and favorably known for his many good works and high learning.

"In the history of this Assembly there has never been such an exhibition of ungentlemanly conduct, or so rude an act committed.

"I understand that honorable members opposite were so shamed that they humiliated themselves to the extent of appealing to the newspapers to repress the shocking story.

"May I say that dishonor has been brought upon this whole House by the action of the Attorney-General, and I feel keenly the sense of that dishonor.

SHOULD DISMISS MINISTER

"I cannot but think that the Premier, after this last gratuitous insult to a public man, will suggest some other more civil member to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor as his adviser in the Department of the Attorney-General. Such at least would be the action in places where honor is held in esteem.".

"I have taken the precaution to put this statement on paper so that there may be no mistake whatever as to the feeling of gentlemen on this side of the House." Mr. Pooley added as he resumed his seat.

The remarks of the Opposition leader were listened to by an intensely silent House and galleries.

THE REPLY

So soon as Mr. Pooley was again seated, the Attorney-General rose.

"The honorable gentleman," said he, "has taken a most extraordinary course, putting it most mildly indeed. He has been merely endeavoring to make a little cheap political capital where no gentleman would have sought to do so. This is not a matter in which such remarks as he has uttered are at all warranted. The leader of the Opposition sat here in this House yesterday and he knows, or at least he should know, exactly what occurred. Any member of this House may 'see' a stranger on the floor of this Chamber. He knows very well the practice of the British House, that of the Canadian Parliament, and of other similar deliberative bodies, and his attempt to cast discredit upon a member of this House and a Minister of the Crown comes with very poor grace from one who occupies such a position as he does as a political leader.

"He speaks of a matter of which he himself knows nothing. If he had, before speaking, informed himself of the facts, if he had consulted with the gentleman of whom he spoke, if he had investigated, he could scarcely have spoken as he has. He has now sought to make public what that gentleman and myself had regarded as satisfactorily disposed of. I cannot believe that he has any sanction from the gentleman to whom he refers, for his extraordinary course. He is merely endeavoring to play little dirty politics. That is all. One would have hoped that he should have consulted the ordinary amenities of which a gentleman should have regard.

"I do not intend to go into the matter involved. An honorable member of this House had asked that the privileges of a seat on the floor of this House be extended to a gentleman of his acquaintance. Such courtesies, if I may say so, are in my view too freely extended. Information had been given to me, from a source which I gave full credence—and I had it not from a single mouth but from the mouths of several—that a course had to be followed if the statements referred to had been true—a course that was the only one to be taken if one has any respect for the dignity of British institutions. If those statements had been true, the gentleman opposite would have resented them as I did.

"No one wants to be insulted gratuitously. I said to you, Mr. Speaker, before this gentleman entered the chamber that I should object to his presence here. What are the circumstances? You gave this gentleman a ticket, not knowing for whom it was intended. I saw him enter. I went to you and asked that he be requested to withdraw, and I told you that I would not sit in this Chamber so long as he remained in the House. You took the only and proper and dignified course and asked that gentleman to your room, so that you could explain the situation. My friend the second member for Vancouver, who is also a friend of the gentleman referred to, found himself in a very embarrassing situation, and he came to me. I said, 'Very well, Victor, I have no objection to meeting him if you think it is necessary.'

"The honorable the sixth member for Vancouver, at whose request this gentleman had been given a card, was asked to come with his friend and meet us in your room. This gentleman then said that the statements attributed to him had never been uttered by him. I accepted that statement and, as I believed, the incident was closed. We shook hands and the matter I thought ended there. None of the major papers had any reference to the incident. The Vancouver Province, The Star, The Sun, The Victoria Colonist, said nothing as to it. Why? Because it was purely a personal matter and the incident was closed.

WOULD HAVE BEEN JUSTIFIED

"If the statement attributed to the reverend gentleman had been true I could have acted in no other way than I did, as a Minister of the Crown had been grossly insulted. It turns out that that statement made to me was untrue. I accepted the gentleman's denial. What the honorable gentleman opposite has done is merely to endeavor to besmirch my character a little. A gentleman occupying the position that he does, of leader of an opposition, should have been one of the first to see that the character of a Minister of the Crown was not besmirched."

As Mr. Manson resumed his seat, Mr. Pooley rose again.

"A question of privilege——," he explained.

Mr. Ian Mackenzie rose simultaneously, to a point of order.

The Opposition leader did not yield the floor. Together they sought to claim the Chair's attention. The remarks of Mr. Pooley were rendered difficult to catch by reason of the loudly-voiced protest from across the Chamber, while Mr. Manson contributed briefly to the three-cornered argument the terse objection that if the Opposition leader should again address himself to the matter, he claimed a right of reply.

Mr. Pooley directed attention to the fact that cognizance of the Thursday incident had been forced upon the House by reason of the fact that reference thereto already had been made by some newspapers.

"And, Mr. Speaker," he was heard to say, "when the Honorable the Attorney-General seeks to maintain that I should have fully investigated the facts of this matter before taking the stand I have, what about himself? He says that he objected to this gentleman's presence in this Chamber because of certain statements that had been made to him. Did he investigate whether or not those statements were true before he took the course he saw fit to take? He tells this House now that those statements were untrue. He did not take the trouble to find out before he offered insult to that gentleman and to this House."

He (ardently): "All the world loves a lover, dearest."

She: "You haven't met daddy yet, have you?"

COAST MEN GO FOR FARM SPRING WORK

EDMONTON, Feb. 17.—Men for Spring work on the farms are now being arranged for by the Provincial Labor Branch. It is expected that at least 6,000 farmhands will be needed this year and of these from 1,500 to 1,800 will be brought in from outside the province.

Arrangements have already been made for a supply of men with farm experience to come from points in British Columbia, where a large number are said to be available from the ranks both of lumber camp workers and ex-prairie men who have been wintering at the Coast.

INTEREST GROWS IN GOODWIN CASE

Need for Immediate Funds Brought Home to Lovers of Justice in This Community

Interest in the Goodwin case, as indicated by contributions to the fund, is gradually increasing, according to information supplied by the Goodwin Defence Committee. The rapidly approaching date of the trial, February 20, is bringing home to sympathizers and lovers of justice the need for immediate action, and a healthy stimulus in the matter of subscriptions is noticed.

The committee, however, wishes to make it clear that time is the essence of the case and it is only by immediate action that Goodwin can be assured the measure of support which will enable all essential witnesses to be brought to Santa Ana, California, in time to testify on his behalf.

Subscription lists are open at the offices of The Colonist, The Times, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Previously acknowledged, $223.50; City Hall, $21; Captain J. W. Troup, $10; Tuberculous Veterans' Branch, Canadian Legion, $10; Mrs. J. D. Clark, $10; A Friend, $2; J. A. Greenlidge, $2; C. *Junket tablets may be purchased in any grocery store. They are a form of rennet, the chief importance of which, from a food standpoint, is its property of coagulating milk. A wholesome and delicious dessert or noonday lunch may be made by dissolving one of the tablets in a little cold water and adding to lukewarm milk that has been sweetened with a little honey or maple syrup and which imparts a delicate flavor.

A convenient way of preparing is to measure out a pint of sweet milk into a quart bottle and let stand in warm water until the milk is lukewarm. Measure into the milk four scant teaspoonfuls of honey or maple syrup, replace the cap on the bottle and shake vigorously until thoroughly mixed, then add the dissolve djunket tablet and shake again for a few seconds. Pour into individual moulds and let stand undisturbed until coagulation takes place, then place in the ice box or other cool place until ready to serve. For a change raisins may be used in place of the honey or syrup. Simply prepare the milk as directed and pour into the moulds, adding a few raisins to each mould. This fruit furnishes enough fruit sugar to give the desired sweet taste without the honey or syrup.

These measurements make four generous portions.

I have received hundreds of letters daily from readers asking me to give them the basic few rules of proper food combinations. I have therefore prepared a special article on this subject. You can obtain this by writing to me. Ask for my article called "Food Combinations."

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr. McCoy are advised that his address is Builders Exchange Building, Los Angeles, California, U.S.A.

WOMEN WANT LOWER ALBERTA COAL RATE

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—The National Council of Women of Canada presented a resolution to the Prime Minister today in which they requested the Dominion Government to take such immediate action as will result in establishing rates which will enable domestic coal to be carried from Alberta to Ontario and sold at a favorable figure even in a competitive market.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson was nominated at the afternoon session of the executive, at Chalmers Church, for national president. The corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. Parsons, of Toronto, sent in her resignation after eight years' work.

She, "Now, if you men told the truth, you would have to admit that you like talkative women just as well as you do the others."

He, "Others? What others?"

MRS. REMINGTON ADDRESSES W.A.

Exceptionally Interesting Meeting of Diocesan Board Is Held at St. John's

A delightful personality and vivid style characterized the address given by Mrs. Remington, wife of the Bishop of Eastern Oregon, at the morning session of the Diocesan Board of Columbia W. A., held at St. John's yesterday, while her womanliness lent an added force to her words, and made their special appeal to the Woman's Auxiliary.

The name bestowed upon Mrs. Remington as the president of their Woman's Auxiliary by the Indian women members of her branch of "The Altogether Good Woman," seemed particularly apt and appropriate for one who had evidently spent much of her life "in going about and doing good," both as the wife of a clergyman, and during the war years, in womanly service to soldiers and the sick and suffering, and among the Indians of her husband's diocese.

Her earnest appeal to women to use health, education, homes and influence for the service of God came therefore with double force. In returning a vote of thanks to Mrs. Remington for her striking address, Mrs. Belson expressed the appreciation of all for the high ideal set before the Woman's Auxiliary.

The idea of service was also the theme of the noon hour address given by Rev. A. W. Corker in which was outlined the need for practical missionary service among the Indians in the northern part of the diocese. Teachers are required and will be welcomed by the Indians who are now awake to the need of education, both temporal and spiritual, and would willingly send their children could schools such as that on Village Island be opened.

CHURCH ON WATER

The address at the afternoon session given by Rev. Alan Greene opened up another avenue of service to settlers in the isolated islands who are in sore need of encouragement and kindness. Mr. Greene humorously referred to the varied services he performs with his little "Rendez-vous" among his scattered parishioners, such as towing cattle, transporting pigs and goats, and performing weddings in the tiny cabin of the boat. He spoke in terms of the highest appreciation of the splendid work performed by the "Columbia," with its consecrated crew of men, devoted to the service of all in need of help, ready to meet any emergency without a thought of themselves; and included his own devoted helper on his boat. Another visitor to the meeting was Principal Vance, who took the opportunity to express his appreciation of the splendid contribution made by the women of Columbia Diocese to to the Anglican Theological College in the furnishings for the kitchen, and also to the Anglican Theological College Guild of Victoria for the generous gifts of furnishings, and the beautiful oak lectern.

The inception and object of the playground on Johnson Street was outlined by Mrs. Mosher in a very interesting way, and the varied uses to which it has been put since the opening last June have proved its value as a real piece of social service work.

TOKEN OF APPRECIATION

A pleasing incident during the meeting was the presentation of a life membership on the Diocesan Board to Mrs. Richards by the diocesan president, Mrs. Dickson, on behalf of the members of St. John's Branch, as a token of esteem and appreciation of her years of service as Dorcas secretary. The short service was read by Mrs. Dickson, the gold badge being pinned on by Mrs. Tom Walker, and at the close of the ceremony Mrs. R. H. Walker presented Mrs. Richards with a lovely bouquet of carnations from her friends in the branch.

A letter of thanks from Rev. J. Antle for the splendid assistance given to the Columbia Coast Mission in the Christmas work, by Columbia W. A., was read by the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Fatt, and a full account of the Christmas trees and other entertainments was published in the Sunday Province. Mr. Antle said:

"Other letters of thanks were received from the Rev. C. Kennedy, the Diocesan Board of Religious Education on behalf of the Sunday school by post, and his Lordship the Bishop of Columbia for moneys voted for diocesan work at the annual meeting, and messages were also received from Mrs. R. A. Smith and from Mrs. Archbold, who sent her good wishes to her friends in the Woman's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Bengough was appointed convener of the corner to be taken by Columbia W. A. on the tag day for the Local Council of Women on March 10 for the free operating table at the hospital, and members were asked to offer their help on that day by telephone to Mrs. Bengough. The Day of Prayer on Friday, February 24, will be held in the Memorial Hall, and the president asked as many as could possibly do so to be present.

An appeal for missionary books for a children's library at Powell River was read by Mrs. E. Bird, literature secretary. She will be glad to receive such books at the Memorial Hall at any time. The social service secretary, Miss O. Checkley, in giving her report, appealed for night dresses which could be made by the branches as a special bit of social service work.

The junior secretary, Mrs. Chrow, asked for dolls to be given by members or by senior branches to the juniors to enable them to enter the doll competition. The work of the Church Embroidery Guild was reported by Mrs. Quainton which included a frontal and super frontal for the church at Cobble Hill, and a banner for presentation to a junior branch. The W. A. Library will be open as usual on Monday afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall in its new quarters.

CHANGE OF MEETING

An invitation to hold the May board meeting at Colwood was received and accepted by the meeting, and one from St. Mary's, Oak Bay, to hold the March board meeting at St. Mary's Hall, was also accepted. It was decided to try holding an afternoon and evening meeting on the third Friday in April in order to give the business women's branches an opportunity of taking part in the work of the board. The April meeting will therefore be held at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall. The prayer partner's secretary, Miss Turner, invited branch secretaries to meet at her house, 1126 Richardson Street, on Thursday, February 23, at three p.m. A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to St. John's Parochial Branch for their kind hospitality to which was added a welcome cup of afternoon tea with which the meeting closed.

Shawnigan Mothers' Union

The quarterly meeting of the Mothers' Union, Shawnigan Lake, was held on Tuesday in the S.L.A.A. Hall. Those present heard a most interesting address from Mrs. Moss, O.B.E., on her personal work and service in the concentration camps during the South African war. Mrs. Moss told how the work (particularly among the schoolchildren) went forward in spite of the difficulties of disease, war rationing and the problem of language. Lord Milner stated that the women's work at that period was a great factor in helping towards the Union of South Africa. Mrs. Moss reminded her audience that "union is strength," and appealed for more unity and devotion to their work amongst the members of the Mothers' Union. A letter from the diocesan president, Mrs. Wootton, was read by Mrs. Cockshott, and a short account of the annual Mothers' Union diocesan meeting, held last month in Victoria, was given by Mrs. Musgrave. The enrolling member, Mrs. Cockshott, retired, but was re-elected by acclamation for 1928.

"BIG FLEAS" IS ROYAL COMEDY

BRANDON-THOMAS COMPANY PRESENTS LAST OF THREE OFFERINGS HERE

Production, Based on Old English Adage, Is Productive of Much Merriment

"Big fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite them. Little fleas have lesser fleas, and so ad infinitum."

This is the old English saying on which the farcial comedy "Big Fleas," produced at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night by the Brandon-Thomas Company, of London, is based, and before the play was brought to a conclusion the audience fully realized what this meant. Like the preceding comedies produced here by the company, last night's play was productive of much mirth and filled with many ludicrous situations.

The story surrounds the purloining of a valuable necklace from a multi-millionaire. The scene of the play is in a hotel.

Richard Van Dryon, played by Richard Cooper, is impersonated by a burglar, who has already stolen the jewels from the real millionaire, who is in London. George Burton, a role taken by Ernest E. Norris, another burglar, poses as a detective who is protecting Richard Van Dryon against the loss of his necklace. Hon. John St. Clair, taken by Jevan Brandon-Thomas, and Horace Leo Goodstein, played by James E. Page, pose as business partners, but are also thieves.

Mrs. Entwhistle a role played by Deirdre Doyle, is also registered at the hotel and solicits support for an institution which takes care of released criminals, although being a thief herself.

Helen Fricourt, taken by Elizabeth Joyce, is supposed to have been a former fiancee of St. Clair. She also belongs to the army of crooks who register at the hotel, all in quest of the valuable necklace.

This rogues gallery endeavors to secure the valuable necklace from the man they believe to be Richard Van Dryon, while the impostor pillages the rooms of guests and steals more jewelry.

Mrs. Overton, taken by Gina Graves, was the guest who lost her jewels and sounded the warning that there were burglars in the house. Monsieur Lamond, played by Arthur P. Bell, is one of those secretive hotel managers who does not wish to have the reputation of their hostelries spoiled. Mr. M. Shepley-Smith plays the role of Inspector Litchfield, who was called in but was unable to make an arrest owing to the cunningness of the army of burglars.

One of the most amusing scenes in the play was when the various burglars all were caught by the impostor in his room while in search of the jewels. The burglar, disguised as a detective, arrests them all and makes a search for any valuables.

Another funny scene was when Mrs. Entwhistle solicited subscriptions from the burglars for a home for criminals, being a criminal herself, and keeping the proceeds. The concluding scene when the real police inspector was called in to make the arrest was a climax to the play. Here the comedy was at its best, for all six burglars succeeded in evading the law. Ann Wise, cashier, played by Joan Marion, provided the romance, while Hector, the bell boy, taken by Douglas Blandford, proved himself an innocent amateur detective. The cast was well-balanced and the comedy sustained in an excellent manner.

Afternoon Tea

The ladies of the New Thought Temple held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Hood, 1737 Fairfield Road, lent for the occasion to Mrs. Langdale, who was hostess for the afternoon. The time was spent in discussing business of the past and plans for the future. Mrs. Elrick presided at the tea table. Those present were Mesdames Elrick, Bailey, Catterall, A. F. Barton, Christopher, Stratton, Roe, Day, Hutchinson, Ringshaw, Kennedy, Wilson, Vidal and Cameron.

T.V.A. Auxiliary

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculous Veterans' Association will be held at the home of Mrs. Adams, 821 Esquimalt Road, on Thursday, February 23, at 2:30 o'clock.

"Blind Justice"

By INA LEON CASSILIS

She made up a letter, and about half past nine put on a hat, as if she were just going to the post, and went out on to the landing. She had not dared to watch for the coming of Vera's visitor; at this hour other people might be about, but she knew she would be awaited below; the meeting was not to be really "accidental" on the other side, though on both sides there was the pretence of accident. But the girl almost held her breath as she began to descend the stairs. She was about half way down when the door of No. 5 opened, and a man came out on the landing, and instantly paused with a start, and a half-stifled exclamation, as his eyes rested on the graceful figure and beautiful face of the Frenchwoman. She, too, paused, and inwardly if not outwardly started—for she could almost have believed, in that brief flash, that it was Gascoigne himself, who stood before her. She saw how easily it would be for anyone who had only seen him superficially to have sworn that this man was indeed he. Make-up no doubt aided a ground-work of resemblance; but the resultant effect was certainly startling—though Marguerite herself—anyone, indeed, who really knew Gascoigne, would see an accidental resemblance, not an identity. Gascoigne was decidedly taller than this man; his bearing, his whole tout ensemble had a distinction which here was lacking—the face was so different in essentials both of artistic beauty and expression as to create in Marguerite a sense of wonder that even a superficial view of the two men, though seen apart and at different times, should cause the mistake which had been made; but then, as she knew, so much depends upon the observer, and how few people are capable of real observation; also how clear to those who know a face are things lost to a passing notice. After the first moment—after the pause not wholly dramatic, Marguerite moved forward, seemingly aware of the man's gaze, and not displeased by it, but pretending, in the true spirit of coquetry, to ignore it. So he was encouraged, and as she reached almost the last stair, he made a half-hesitating step nearer, and paused again.

"I beg your pardon," he said, bending his head in apology. "I am afraid I—must seem—that an explanation . . . I have had the pleasure of seeing you before."

A soft voice—the voice of a gentleman; but not Gascoigne's voice, or crisp enunciation; the hands well formed, but not Gascoigne's hands; the man was a gentleman by birth, by original breeding—or the masquerade would have been impossible, but the act grotesquely at variance with Gascoigne's character—Anthony address a woman—a stranger—in this fashion, even though she might seem not unwilling to be addressed! And the look! Marguerite could have struck the man who dared to travesty Anthony Gascoigne; and yet she was keenly alive to the comedy of the situation. She could have laughed aloud at it. She revelled in playing her part, in seeing the scoundrel play his; seeing the whole drama; be only a part. She smiled, and dropped her eyes. "Vraiment!" she said. "I saw you—at the theatre—Mr. Gascoigne."

"I knew I could not be mistaken!" murmured "Gascoigne"; "then you forgive me, Mme. de Brelancourt."

Marguerite's ear caught the accent—good—for an Englishman, but not a Frenchman's French—as Gascoigne's accent was. "Ah!" she said half archly, "You know my name? I can divine who told you—your—pardon—you see, she is—my friend."

He bent his head again. "She is not my wife," he said, quickly, "it is an imposture."

"Ah, Monsieur—how can I tell? I am a foreigner—what do I know?"

"I cannot blame you, Madame. Indeed," a little hurriedly, "what should it matter to you?"

Marguerite made no reply to this, but moved a step onward.

"You are going to the post," the other said, "can I have the pleasure?"

"Nay, Monsieur—merci," she stopped, as if embarrassed.

"Then," he added quickly, "you will allow me to escort you. It is late for a lady to be alone."

This was just what Marguerite intended. She consented with a charming grace, and "Gascoigne" descended the stairs with her, and walked beside her, to the pillar box which was only a hundred yards distant; but then he walked back also, and both the man and the woman, having the same end in view—though for different reasons—made the best use of the time; such good use that when they parted at Marguerite's door, she had promised to let him call upon her, though she did it with a certain hesitation, as if half fearful of what Vera might think of the matter while herself so much attracted by Gascoigne as to find him irresistible, and withal, rather passing as reluctant than being really so. The man departed, well pleased, no doubt—even triumphant; the woman? Marguerite would have found it impossible to analyze her emotions as she paced up and down her drawing-room, her dark eyes burning, her cheeks now flushed, now pale. She had gone through torture tonight, and yet there was pleasure—a fierce and keen delight, in success, above all this success—the keen detective pleasure in "playing" the quarry; and stronger than any other emotion was the joy of winning for Anthony Gascoigne's sake; he would be free, free in law, in honor, and she—Marguerite—would have gained him that freedom. Did she at all realize why the joy was so deep, so all-mastering? Was there no half consciousness of the truth to which the friendship and familiar intercourse of years had blinded her? She could not have answered these questions, had she put them to herself, and she did not—perhaps she would not—though there was no conscious shrinking from self-analysis; there are instincts which have more power than will because they are instincts, and therefore unconsciously exercised, which to turn, or seek to turn, the mind from a thought, recognizes the thought. Marguerite stood on the threshold; the door would yield to a touch; but she had not yet put out her hand to open it.

At The Playhouses

VARIETY THEATRE "The Transcontinental Limited," now current at the Variety Theatre, is more than the name implies. It is the story of the romance of a train and the important part it can assume in the lives of human beings. It proves how much romance an inanimate object can create and, as it dashes through space, it assumes the importance of the part it performs in the unfolding of its plot. "The Strong Man" featuring Harry Langdon, is also showing at the Variety today.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE "The Fortune Hunter," being shown at the Playhouse Theatre today for the last times, is a human, happy-go-lucky, exciting drama. It portrays the unusual doings of a young rake who comes to a country town on a wager to marry the richest girl, and share fifty-fifty with the pal who staked him. The locale is a Vermont village and the characters are not caricatures.

COLUMBIA THEATRE A Western with an additional feminine appeal is Hoot Gibson's latest Universal starring vehicle, "Galloping Fury," showing at the Columbia Theatre for the last times today. This appeal consists of a beauty-mud found on Gibson's ranch about which the plot is built. The supporting cast includes Sally Rand, Otis Harlan, Frank Beal, Ed Coxen, Duke R. Lee, Peewee Holmes, Max Asher and Black Hawk. Reeves Eason directed.

COLISEUM THEATRE "Shame" is one of the most terrible words in the English language. Imagine a man, a favorite of fortune, possessed of wealth, a position of influence and power, and a beloved wife and child, suddenly borne down by a crushing sense of shame. That is what happens in Fox Films reissue of "Shame," showing for the last times today at the Coliseum Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE Lucien Littlefield, who plays the role of the father in "My Best Girl," Mary Picford's new United Artists vehicle now showing at the Dominion Theatre, is one of the youngest character actors in Hollywood. Born in San Antonio, Texas, in 1895, he was educated at the public schools of that city, and later at the Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va. After his schooling he entered pictures, and played in a number of productions, including "The Romance of the Redwoods," with Miss Pickford, before the war. Enlisting in the ambulance corps, he served overseas for two years, returning to Hollywood after the armistice.

CAPITOL THEATRE Barbara Bedford, playing the leading feminine role in the Universal-Jewel production. "A Man's Past," now at the Capitol Theatre, with Conrad Veidt as the star, in addition to being known as one of the most beautiful women on the screen, is considered one of its most accomplished actresses. The stage attractions include Mantell's mannikins, a famous marionette show, which has been playing to capacity houses all over the country. This performance of sixty wooden dolls is an exceptional attraction. They dance, sing and do some very funny acrobatic stunts, in fact, the act is a show in itself. The other attraction presents Kathryn Esny, a delightful soprano solist, in song selections.

Royal Opera Co. Opens at Playhouse On Monday Next

What is virtually a new era in entertainment will be introduced to Victoria audiences by the Playhouse management when, commencing next Monday, February 20, the stage will be occupied by the Royal Opera Co. who have been secured at large expense for an extensive engagement, during the length of which light opera music will be the leading feature of the Playhouse programmes. The leading artists in the company will be found to include some of the best known and most talented singers of the Pacific Coast, who has specialized in that type of clever light opera so beloved all over the world where English is spoken. In addition to the work of the principals will be the singing of a well trained supporting chorus while an augmented orchestra will take take care of the instrumental score.

Dumbell Artists Open at Royal on Monday Evening

The Dumbells continue to provide the outstanding feature of the year in Canadian theatricals. This time it is "Oo, La, La!" their ninth annual revue, and from all reports, their most unquestioned success. Captain Plunkett and his popular company will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre for three days, commencing next Monday evening. A glance at the programme shows that all the well-loved entertainers of other years are still in the cast, while several new names appear, as well. "Oo, La, La!" opens up with a little post-war prologue, in which Al. Plunkett, Jack McLellan, Cameron Geddes, "Jock" Holland and Morley Plunkett appear. "Red" Newman and Pat Rafferty have a burlesque on Mary and Doug. Fred Emney and Charlie Jeeves provide a comedy entr'acte and Ross Hamilton and the quartette are heard in "Shalimir." "Red" Newman sings "Ma, Look at Charlie," and Harry Binns sings "Some Night, Some Waltz, Some Girl," while Glenn Allen and Morley Plunkett provide the waltz setting.

The show ends with a sketch called "Sailing, Sailing," in which the eight comedians of the company provide the funniest twent minutes that anyone could possibly conceive.

ENGLISH SINGERS AT ROYAL MARCH 7

Eminent Artists to Close Season's Series of Ladies' Musical Club Next Month

The English Singers, who are now giving their third American tour, sang nine concerts to sold-out houses in New York last season. After the first recital the seats were all sold long before the day of the concert. They will be heard in Victoria on Wednesday, March 7, at the Royal Victoria Theatre, it being the last concert of the "Artist Series" of the Ladies' Musical Club. A concert by The English Singers is for a listener a unique and unforgettable experience, a contact with beauty that is rare and haunting, and in performance The English Singers merit the highest praise. They achieve a balance nearly akin to a good string quartette, and greatest of all they teach a recurring lesson in enunciation and pronunciation. No one needs to be a musician to thoroughly enjoy The English Singers; there is something in their performance which appeals to everyone. Mail orders are being received at the Royal Victoria Theatre, and if the Singers have had sold-out houses wherever they have sung in the United States, how much more should they expect this experience in Canada!

Maria Corda in Helen of Troy Shows At Capitol, Monday

Some highly interesting personalities are to be found in the large cast of "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," the big First National production which opens an engagement of six days at the Capitol Theatre, begining Monday.

One of the most famous of these is Maria Corda, who plays the role of Helen as her first American picture. Miss Corda was a favorite actress on both stage and screen in Europe, and a dancer as well. She is the wife of Alexander Korda, director of the picture. Lewis Stone, well known to the American screen, nevertheless has a background of color and interest. A veteran of two wars, Stone is now a major in the U.S. Reserve Corps. He has been a popular figure on stage and screen for twenty years.

"The Private Life of Helen of Troy," was adapted and produced for First National Pictures by Carey Wilson.

Sir J. Martin Harvey Says Omission of Shakespeare Error

Sir John Martin Harvey, the famous English actor-manager, who will be seen here at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday, February 27, for one week, in his latest successes, "Scaramouche," and "The Lyons Mail," is a great believer in the desirability of keeping the plays of Shakespeare before the public. Speaking on the Repertory Theatre recently, Sir John said he seldom found the name of Shakespeare on looking down the lists of plays selected. He felt that that was a grave omission, as no dramatic writer of any age had offered such glorious opportunities of practising the art of the actor. "If you would interject some Shakespearean plays into your programmes you would find it very helpful in broadening your style," is Sir John's advice to those associated with the movement. Many of the distinguished figures on the modern stage have graduated in the companies of Sir Frank Benson, specializing in Shakespeare, and, by that means, obtaining a breadth and distinction in style, he declared.

SHIP REPORTS FOUND VAGUE

Customs Officials Demand Fuller Information on Vessels To or From Every Canadian Port

PORT OF CLEARANCE MUST BE SPECIFIED

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17.—A local paper publishes the following from Ottawa today: "A circular sent to collectors of national revenue and of interest to the Pacific Coast reads as follows; 'Under section 16, Customs Act, the master of any vessel coming from any port or place out of Canada, and entering any port in Canada, shall make a report in writing on the arrival and voyage of such vessel, and form A-6 calls for information as to the voyage.'

"The department holds that this question is not satisfactorily answered by the indefinite statement that the vessel came 'from the high seas,' but that instead the intention of the act was to require a statement showing a definite place from which the ship had cleared.

"In future, therefore, you are directed to require the masters of vessels reporting inward to name in blank (3) the port and country where last clearance was obtained and to give all information called for in subsection 2 of section 16 of the act, especially in respect of any addition to, change in, or disposition of cargo since the date of such clearance, whether occurring at any other place or at sea, using a special affidavit for that purpose if the affidavit printed with form A-6 cannot be altered to suit the facts.

"In all cases where the cargo on such clearance was intoxicating liquor the special affidavit should show the date and as nearly as possible the exact location of the vessel when transfer, if any, made, and the name of the vessel to which liquor was transferred."

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tides rise or fall continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add thirty feet to the height of high water as given above.

NOOERDYK CARGO MAY BE BARRED

Liquor Laden Ship Due Just Two Days Before Ottawa Order Goes Into Effect

Should the Holland-Amerika vessel Nooerdyk arrive at Vancouver later than February 29, considerable difficulty will arise with her liquor cargo, which is estimated at about 10,000 cases.

Mr. A. P. Moffat, local agent, has received advices that the vessel is due here about February 27 with a large consignment of distilled goods, some of which is said to be consigned to a bonded liquor warehouse at Vancouver.

The order issued by Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of customs at Ottawa last Wednesday, states that private liquor warehouses must not receive supplies after February 29 and that supplies now in storage must be moved by June 30. It is possible that a special permit will be issued to the Nooerdyk, but in the event that customs officials show no leniency the situation will be complicated.

FIRE PREVENTION THEME OF FILM

Canadian Forestry Association Picture Shown Before Members of the Legislature

Entitled "The Red Destroyer," a one-reel film made in the province depicting logging operations and aiming at interesting the public in the prevention of forest fires was shown before members of the Legislature and others at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The film was prepared by the Canadian Forestry Association in co-operation with the British Columbia branch, and was shown by Messrs. T. H. Wilkinson and Charles Wilkinson, who are touring the Island in the interests of forest perpetuation.

Opening with views of a forest ranger describing the wonders of the forest to school children, the story impressed the fact that if a second crop of timber was to be obtained fire must be prevented from reaching second growth trees. Scenes of standing timber and logging operations near Campbell River were followed by others depicting various methods of logging until the timber was made into booms at the seaside. Views of large flumes carrying logs near Lumbertown, Capilano sawmills and Powell River pulp mill gave the audience some idea of the magnitude of operations.

"Trees serve as homes for wild life, protect watersheds and afford camping grounds for many in addition to many other uses with which we are all familiar," said Mr. Wilkinson. "Each year forests are menaced with destruction by fire, the red destroyer, through the carelessness of campers, tourists, thoughtless boys and those who throw lighted matches or cigarettes away where they will soon set fire to the surroundings, often with disastrous results," he continued.

Actual scenes of forest fires burning all before them and leaving bare, charred sticks in their wake served to illustrate the vast amount of damage done in a short space of time by the red destroyer.

The film ended with views of forest survey airplanes, various pumps used to quell outbreaks, a panorama of Mount Benson and a forest lookout station near Nanaimo.

Tank Steamer Goes Aground At Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 17.—The British tank steamer Varand is aground at the mouth of the Mersey tonight. She is in danger of breaking up and sending her 8,000 tons of benzine to menace Liverpool and Liverpool shipping with a fire peril similar to that of the Anglo-American tanker Semenole, which grounded in the Mersey in December 13 and later broke her back, releasing her cargo of gasoline. The captain and crew of the Varand, numbering forty-one, were taken off today in a bold rescue by a New Brighton lifeboat.

The Varand, which arrived yesterday after an adventurous maiden voyage from New Orleans, broke away from the tugs last night while being towed to Manchester, and driven hopelessly before the gale, struck the bar at the river's mouth.

BOARD OUTLINES MARINE POLICY

SUGGEST TO CONGRESS ADOPTION OF SEVERAL PROVISIONS OF JONES BILL

Want Federal Tax Exemption on American Vessels Operating in Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The shipping board today sent to Congress its recommendations for a new policy for the merchant marine, embodying the report adopted at a recent meeting here of important shipping interests on legislation now before Congress. The report adopted said that there is no prospect of Congress enacting subsidy legislation, but it added that if Congress is content with carrying out the present Merchant Marine Act so as to bring about the transfer of government ships to private owners gradually, meanwhile providing for vessel replacement and new construction, the adoption of certain indirect aids would prove very effective.

The report suggested the following indirect aids. "The reaffirmation, as provided in the Jones Bill, of the national policy to establish and maintain a permanent merchant marine.

"Generous compensation for the carriage of foreign mails under long term contracts.

"All liberalization of the terms under which loans may be secured by the American shipbuilder and operators from the present construction loan fund.

"Federal tax exemption on American vessels operating in foreign trade, including a provision whereby deduction shall be allowed from taxable incomes derived from operating profits to the extent that such profits are devoted to new ship construction.

"Transfer to privately-owned American vessels of the business now handled by army and navy transports and by the vessels owned and chartered by the Panama Railroad Steamship Line.

"Amendment of Section 33 of the Act of Congress approved February 28, 1925, providing for the creation of a naval reserve, so as to authorize two months pay to such officers and men of the merchant marine naval reserve as are employed on vessels of the American merchant marine engaged in foreign trade.

"The establishment of an insurance system which will place American vessels on an equality with foreign vessels in the matter of insurance."

WAS VERY WEAK NERVOUS AND MELANCHOLY

Mrs. Geo. McKenzie, Campbellford, Ont., writes: "A short time ago I was troubled very badly with my heart and nerves, the cause of it, I think, was my going through the change of life.

"I was very weak and melancholy, and so nervous I could hardly bear to hear a clock ticking, and I did not sleep well.

"I was advised to try MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS so I sent at once for a box; took them and got another, and before they were all gone I felt good, my nerves are fine, I do not mind any noise, and I can sleep well. I cannot recommend them too highly to those suffering as I did."

Price 50c a box at all druggists and dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. (Advt.)

Saturday's Programme

CFCT, Victoria, B.C. (475.9m)—8 a.m. The morning market quotations direct from the B.C. Bond Corporation. 6.30 p.m. What's doing in town. 7.10. The closing market quotations by the B.C. Bond Corporation; weather reports and forecast; time signal by Wilkerson, jeweler. West Coast Information Service and the news.

NBC. National Broadcasting Company—8-9 p.m. R.C.A. Hour. Music particularly suitable to the four periods of this programme, the land, the sea, the sky, and the universe is treated in the order given. The talk on Wonders of the Sky, which is the highlight of the programme and always occurs in the third period, is again given by Mr. Henry M. Hyde, of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific. Mr. Hyde has chosen for his subject tonight, "The Planets." Section 1, "The Land"; Orchestra, Dance from "The Bartered Bride" (Smetana); contralto solo, Mary Groom Richards, "Haidenroslein" (Schubert); orchestra, Prelude (Jarnefeldt); orchestra, Hungarian Dance No. 5 (Brahms). Section 2, "The Sea": Baritone solo Harold Dana, "Viking Song" (C. Taylor); orchestra, Overture, "Flying Dutchman" (Wagner); contralto solo, Mary Groom Richards, "The Star" (Rogers). Section 3, "The Sky": Announcement and music introducing talk, "Wonders of the Sky: The Planets," by Henry M. Hyde. Section 4, "The Universe": Baritone solo, Harold Dana, "Star of Eve" from "Tannhauser" (Wagner); string orchestra, Air for G String (Bach); orchestra, First Movement from Fifth Symphony (Beethoven). 9-10. Philco Hour. Aiming to please diversified musical tastes the Philco concert, broadcast tonight goes from Gluck to Irving Berlin and from Liszt to Romberg. Ganne, who represents to the French what John Phillip Sousa does to the Americans, mastery of the march form, has a place on the programme with his stirring "Marche Lorraine." Black, who takes the classics and makes them so modern that they are almost in the blue category, contributes his version of the "Celeste Aida" from the Verdi opera "Aida." Black's composition is called "Ideal Aida." The most pretentious offering on the Philco programme is the "Dance of the Spirits" from "Orpheus." It was with this opera that Gluck proclaimed a revolution in opera composition. The music in "Orpheus" faithfully interprets each dramatic situation. The old idea of the drama being simply a pretext for a lot of unrelated music passed out after "Orpheus" was produced. Herbert's "I Envy the Rose" and the ever-popular "Liebestraum" of Liszt are both favorites of a wide section of the music-loving public. Landon Ronald's "O Lovely Night," which will be sung as a duet by James Isherwood and Harold Spaulding now enjoys as much popularity in America as in England, the home of the composer. There will be the usual number of dance offerings. "I Fell Head Over Heels in Love," a fox trot, just off the press, is expected to win much favor. 10 p.m.-12 midnight. The Trocaderans. Another two-hour dance entertainment will be broadcast over the N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network tonight from 10 to 12 o'clock. The Trocaderans, taking the name from the famous London Night Club, will again prove that they are worthy of the cognomen and regale dialers with the latest song and dance melodies. Jazz and blues singers will augment the popular dance band under the direction of Vinton La Ferrera. Many recent hits just off the press, popular songs and ballads, are included in the programme. Frank Gage will contribute several pianologues in addition to announcing the programme, while John Tofolli, brilliant accordionist, will also be heard in two numbers. Gwynfi Jones will sing "Just an Ivy-Covered Shack," while Miss Talbot will be heard in the ever-popular "Sweethearts," from Victor Herbert's musical comedy. The vocalists will be heard from "Apple Blossoms." 3-5. Sunday Afternoon Concert. N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network listeners will be offered another of the delightful Sunday concerts from 3 to 4.30 o'clock. As usual, a half hour is devoted to the "Great Moment in History" dramalogue, completing the two-hour broadcast. Featuring Max Dolin, directing the N.B.C. Concert Orchestra, the popular Arlon Trio, and C. H. Gabriel, Jr. (guest artist of the day), the musical portion of the programme promises to be one of unusual merit. Perhaps the outstanding portions of today's programme are the two Kreisler compositions, "Caprice Viennois" and the "Old Refrain." Max Dolin, the N.B.C. musical director, has made a study of these compositions and his special arrangements have been made solely with the idea of microphonic presentation. In both numbers the harp, in the hands of the master soloist, Kajetan Attl, plays a most important part. Charles H. Gabriel, Jr., the programme director, will make his initial appearance over the Network as a piano soloist. The "Great Moment of History," entitled "Remember the Maine," will feature the half hour from 4.30 to 5 p.m. All America rang with these words after February 15, 1898, when the U.S. battleship Maine was blown up on a friendly visit to Havana harbor. On April 18 of that year Congress adopted a resolution declaring Cuba independent. War with Spain began at once. For three months America was engaged in a conflict more colorful and adventurous than any in her history. 6.30-7.30. Standard Symphony Hour. The weekly programme of the Standard Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Nathan Abas, will be offered N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network listeners. 9-9.30. Don Amaizo. Tonight Don Amaizo leaves his beloved Spain. His faithful interpreter will begin the series of stories giving an insight into the life of the gallant Don while he studies the violin in Europe. As usual, Don Amaizo and his violin will open and close the programme with Ponce's "Estrellita." They will also be heard in Lemare's "Andantino." The Don will lead the orchestra in Hahn's "L'Heure Exquise," Dyer's "Minuet" and Mattei's "Non E Ver." Broadcast from Stations KHQ, KOMO, KFOA, KGW, KGO and KFI. 9.30-10. Moon magic.

The Amati violin was bequeathed to Rudy Seiger by a descendant of George Washington, and a nephew of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. The violin is usually kept in a safe deposit vault and is only brought out on special occasions. It was purchased by its former owner in 1676 in Paris, and like most of its kind is a pedigreed instrument, the history of which has been carefully recorded from the time it left the hands of Amati, one of the famous group of violin makers who flourished in Cremona about the beginning of the seventeenth century. The instrument will be played by Rudy Seiger in presenting his own composition, "Lido," thus himself appearing among a group of Western and other American composers whose works will be played on this programme. 9.30-10. Fisk Tire programme. The Fisk "Time to Retire" boys, assisted by a twelve-piece orchestra, will go on the air tonight from 9.30 to 10, over the associated stations of the N.B.C. Pacific Network as a part of the latest national broadcast presentation of the National Broadcasting Company. 10-11. Broadways and Boulevards. Featuring the latest popular American and European melodies, "Broadways and Boulevards" will be broadcast over the N.B.C. Pacific Coast Network tonight. This programme, transporting listeners to the liveliest of the world's capitals, presenting the latest in music and melody, reflecting the gay glamor of the romantic night life and the thrill of the white lights, will make the hour one of the brightest and breeziest of Network offerings. Broadcast from stations KOMO, KFOA, KGW and KGO.

Hudkins Whips Baker In Decisive Fashion

Nebraska Boy Claws Way to Forefront as Title Challenger by Smashing Win Over Army Aviator—Soldier Is Game

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Feb. 17.—Ace Hudkins, vicious clouter from Lincoln, Neb., clawed his way past Sergt. Sammy Baker, army warrior, and to the forefront of Joe Dundee's welterweight title challengers, in a gory ten-round battle here tonight. Into the melee, third of a spectacular series, was parked all the thrills of the fiercest kind of fighting, and all the drama than can lie in a game battler's refusal to "give up the "ghost," even when everyone but him of the 16,000 in the arena know he was licked.

Baker, courageous as the flying corps he represents, was as badly whipped as a fighter can be in ten rounds and still keep his feet. But in whipping him Hudkins, too, took as severe punishment as he ever has been called upon to endure in punching out a victory.

Twice in the second and sixth rounds Sammy ran into overhead swings that dropped him into the resin for counts of nine. The first was a right smash to the chin, and Sammy chose to rest for the most of the count. The second, a flailing left, dangerously close to the foul line, sunk Baker when the ring was reeling about him, and even the lights must have shown red to him through a haze of blood.

BAKER GAME THROUGHOUT

Despite terrific punishment from unceasing punching, Baker rallied when the cause seemed most hopeless. The drumming right hand that knocked Hudkins out in seven rounds last Summer, dealt a merciless tattoo on the Westerner's head. In at least half of the rounds, Baker, staggering about and pawing with his left for openings, whipped over that right to set Hudkins on his heels.

Hudkins' eyes were nearly shut from Sammy's head punishment at the close, and Sammy was a sight to behold, with blood oozing from gashes about his mouth, his body also crimson from the punishment.

Ringside denizens gave Hudkins the better of seven of the ten rounds. To Sammy went the first, fifth and eighth rounds.

Hudkins had a slight advantage in the weights, scaling 146 to 144½ for Baker. The attendance was close to capacity; 16,876, and the receipts $76,459.

WARATAHS BUSY ANSWERING MAIL

Admirers Keep Famous Ruggers Occupied in Spare Moments—View Niagara Falls

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—Answering letters from female fan admirers keeps the members of the Waratah Rugby team of New South Wales busy in their spare moments, but in divulging this information, D. Gordon Shaw, their manager, says that no embryonic romances have yet come to his attention.

The Waratahs are now making a trip across Canada to play three matches in Vancouver. After spending a day in Toronto sightseeing, the party left yesterday morning for a tour of the Niagara Peninsula.

While at Niagara Falls the team was personally conducted by one of the chief engineers over the large power houses. The members of the party thoroughly enjoyed donning oilskins and gum boots to go under the falls. Today they were guests of the university, being entertained at luncheon at Hart House. Afterwards the team took a few hours off for practice.

Mr. Shaw stated that the men were all very fit and well. They are enjoying their trip to the utmost, and are looking forward to the Winter sports at Banff, where they will be the guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Ray Plans Clash With Doctor Hahn

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Joie Ray, the chesty little Illinois A.C. distance runner, who is attempting a comeback, may race against Dr. Otto Peltzer and Lloyd Hahn in the Knights of Columbus games here on February 29. He informed the games officials that he will start in that event or in the two-mile special, depending upon a final time trial at Chicago next week.

Letters to the Editor

NOT HOLDING OFFICE

To the Sports Editor:

Sir,—As I have been lately the recipient of many messages, some sympathetic, others very much to the contrary, regarding the deplorable state in which the game of soccer finds itself today, sent me by people who have not followed the game very closely, may I be allowed to use your columns for my self-defence.

I wish these friends to know that I have in no way been connected with the game since the early part of last year.

Might I also point out to those who have not been over polite in their remarks that during the two years that Messrs. Walker, Lynn and Milton were in office, there was practically no trouble whatever caused by the players, that the standard of play was high, and that the game was flourishing.

Even at the risk of being suspected as an office seeker, I would like once again to give my opinion that the game will never recover lost prestige unless an independent man or group of independent men are given sole control with practically "Mussolinic" powers to govern, absolutely without interference from club managers or delegates, for it is an open secret that the squabbles on the field are nearly always the backwash of quarrels in the council chamber.

While the sporting fraternity are making a move for more and better grounds, it is up to all of us to see that the bad element are not allowed to antagonize the City Council by their scandalous behavior on and off the football field.

CAGE TEAMS WILL PERFORM TONIGHT

Three Games in City League Knockout Series Will Be Played at Y.M.C.A.

With Hudson Bay men's "C" team of the City Basketball League, opposing Crescents of the Sunday school loop, three games will be played at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium tonight in the City League knockout series. The Bays and Crescents will hook up at 7:30 in what should be the feature game on the programme. After going through the regular league schedule without suffering defeat, the boys of the green and gold are out gunning for other fields to conquer. Crescents, who are making their bow to City League fans, have been setting the pace in the Sunday school loop, and should extend the Bays. Both quintettes are carrying young and fast players and a keen struggle is expected.

In the second game B.C. Telephone ladies will battle the Adanacs in what promises to be an interesting affair. The "hello girls" have a smooth-working machine and one that should make their opponents step throughout the route.

In the third contest, Jordan River "A" will provide the opposition for Keating. Riverites, who seem to be the class of the men's teams, are expected to come through with a win over the team from the adjacent suburb.

YOUTH SHATTERS THREE WORLD'S SWIMMING MARKS

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 17.—Three world's indoor records were shattered last night in the Central A.A.U. senior championships and open swimming meet held at the Minneapolis Athletic Club.

Lowell Marsh, seventeen, of St. Paul, a freshman at the University of Minnesota, set the marks in an exhibition swim against time, in the 440-backstroke.

He swam the distance in six minutes flat, beating the former mark of 6.02 3-5, held by Perry McGillivray, of the Illinois A. C., Chicago. At the 220-yard mark he was clocked in 2:45 2-5, as compared with the old record of 2:48 3-5, held by McGillivray. At 400 yards his time was 5:21 3-5. The best former time was held by "Stubby" Kruger, also of Illinois A.C.

Mrs. Parry Has Best Score in Bogey Play

In the ladies' monthly bogey round played at the Victoria Golf Club, Mrs. Parry, who had previously qualified, finished first in class "A," being three down. Mrs. Rithet, who was five down, will be one of the twelve qualifiers as the result of finishing next to Mrs. Parry. Mrs. Hadley won in class "B," completing the round, ten down.

Tunney to Resume Training at Miami

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight boxing champion, will depart for Miami Beach, Fla., tonight to resume training after a ten-day visit here. Tunney expects to remain at Miami Beach until April.

Grass Hockey Practice

There will be a mixed grass hockey practice at the Cranmore Road grounds, commencing at 2:30 this afternoon. A large turnout is expected.

WHEN THE EYES HAVE IT — — — — By Ripley

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY

There may be some doubt that Jack Dempsey's eyes are so affected that he cannot see a $500,000 purse; but there is no doubt that eye trouble is one of the curses of the followers of the fistic art.

If the ex-champion's eyes have been injured he is wise not to fight for any reason. There are too many unfortunate examples walking about in the shadows as it is. And Jack is not a fool. He has seen poor Pete Herman, the former bantamweight champion, and Sam Langford, the black terror of other days. I might needlessly mention Irish Pat Cline, Frankie Neil, Young Shugrue, Monte Attell, Kid Murphy, Kentucky Rosebud and many others. Harry Greb and Tiger Flowers died from operations on their eyes. President Roosevelt lost the sight of one eye in a sparring match in the White House.

My friend, the Doctor, tells me that the shock of a blow can cause several different kinds of eye trouble. The most frequent accident is the dislocation of the lens of the eye. A rupture of the lens covering may occur, and a cataract form. A detachment of the retina on the inside of the eye is very serious.

Strange to say, it is not necessary for a blow to land on the eye to cause such injuries. Any sudden shock or jar may have a damaging effect. A blow on the chin could result disastrously for Dempsey.

Too many boxers make the mistake that Dempsey is avoiding. Greb, Herman and Langford fought on long after the sight of one eye had gone—concealing their misfortune from their most intimate friends until even greater misfortune befell them.

Cup Tie Fever Raging In Old Country Soccer

Bumper Gates Are Assured for Games Today —6,000 "Brummagem" Fans Journey to London to Cheer Aston Villa

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The cup-tie fever raged in England and Scotland today, and bumper gates are assured for the struggles tomorrow. Six thousand Birmingham fans arrived in London today to contribute vocal support tomorrow in the game between Aston Villa and Arsenal at Highbury. The Villa are not going to be at full strength, though their backers feel they are good enough to win.

Waring, the Villa forward, acquired from Tranmere Rovers for £3,700, cannot play, as he has already assisted his old club in one cup-tie. Dr. Milne will play centre-half instead of Waring, while Kingdon replaces Gibson, who is a casualty. Several players are reported very fit. They have been golfing all week and have been treated with violet rays and brine baths.

Tottenham Hotspurs could not decide today on their team against Leicester City at Leicester because of invalids in their ranks. Leicester will be at full strength.

CARDIFF CITY SATISFIED

Satisfied with the form shown by their players, Cardiff City, the cup-holders, will play the team which defeated Huddersfield Town last Saturday. They must travel to Nottingham and meet the Forest team, which has a fine record for winning matches on their own grounds. Forest will field almost the same team as that which eliminated Derby County. Morgan replaces Wallace.

With two good victories in the series, Sheffield United will be represented by the eleven that humbled Notts County and Wolverhampton Wanderers. The United meet their fellow-citizens, the Wednesday, who too are confident of victory, at least a draw.

HAVE HARD JOB

No team has a harder job on their hands than Middlesbrough, who must journey to Huddersfield Town. They are taking along thirteen players, and will not decide on the team until tomorrow. Manchester City, who are struggling their hardest to get promoted from the Second Division to the First Division, have also their eye on the cup. They are going to be embarrassed tomorrow because of their regulars, Cowan and Barass, who have been on the sick list.

After a sojourn at Buxton, where they enjoyed the baths, Stoke players are reported fit for their match with Manchester City.

Port Vale have been taking a rest cure at the watering place Llandudno, but put in practices yesterday and today. They play Blackburn Rovers. Neither Manchester United nor Birmingham will be at full strength. The former will be without McPherson and the latter perhaps, without Tremmelling in goal.

In Scotland a record throng is expected to see Motherwell battle with the Hearts in Edinburgh.

Football Line-Ups

Esquimalt Juniors — Chalmers, Sweeney, Pepin, Smith, Banks, Vickers, Woolcock, Burnett, Stewart and Thompson.

Esquimalt Juveniles will be selected from—DeCosta, Warder, Anderson, Collings, Stewart, Wallace, Evans, Wright, Brien, Hicks, Bichard, McLean and Marsh.

Victoria West—Passmore, Hawkes, Allan, Robinson, Peden, Popham, Connorton, Brown, Plump, Collins and Mulcahy.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What is meant by "rhythm" and "timing" and what hints would you give for obtaining these important qualities?

By AL ESPINOSA
Well-Known American Golf Professional

The pivot or twisting should be made as fast as the club is swung. This means that the body and the club come into the ball simultaneously, and that the body and club work together. This is what is meant by proper timing.

Proper timing and rhythm can be obtained by concentrating on the left side of the body and its work, and by not letting the right side of the body get in ahead of the hands, or letting the right hand do too much work. This causes mistiming, a jerk in the swing, wrong co-ordination of muscles, lacks the rhythm and timing and throws the whole swing out of tune.

TOURNAMENT PLAY CONTINUES TODAY

Garrison Badminton Club Is Holding American Sealed Handicap Tourney at Armories

Play in the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club (American sealed handicap) tournament is expected to conclude on Wednesday next. A number of matches will be played off this afternoon, but no games will be played on Monday evening as the Armories is being used for the inspection of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment.

On February 25 the club will play return matches with Duncan, the "B" team proceeding to the up-Island city and the Duncan "A" team coming here to meet the locals.

In the Vancouver tournament held last week Major Cobbett and W. Brudford of the local club carried off the men's handicap doubles, the latter player also won the singles for men under twenty. Misses M. Miller and Campbell reached the finals in the ladies' doubles.

At the annual meeting of the B.C. Badminton Association held during the tournament, Major P. Hennessy, D.S.O., M.C., honorary secretary of the Garrison club, was cial association.

Chicago Cubs Open Training on Island

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 17.—Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, gathered together a part of his 1928 National League pennant race talent yesterday and sent them through the first limbering up exercises of the Spring training season.

The thirteen pitchers present at the island camp were put to work, warming up muscles that had become stiffened through the "off" season. Gabby Hartnett and Mike Gonzales, regular catchers, were assisted by two Los Angeles youngsters, Gilpin and Brayton, at the receiving end.

TORONTO GRADS DEFEAT SWEDEN

Crack Canadian Hockey Sextette Give Finished Exhibition and Win by Score of 11-0

CANADA FAVORED TO CAPTURE TITLE

ST. MORITZ, Feb. 17.—Canada's crack hockey team, the Toronto Grads, gave a sort of an exhibition of how the Canadian game should be played to the spectators of the Olympic Winter sports here today. The Canadians played against Sweden, scored eleven goals, and let it go at that. Sweden did not score. Dave Trottier, the Canadian left-winger, scored four goals for his team.

The showing of the Dominion stickhandlers was so impressive that any doubt which lingered in the minds of spectators as to the final event of the hockey competition, was removed. It is now freely granted that Canada will capture the title with little difficulty, repeating their victory of 1924 when they defeated the United States.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Canada, Trottier, 3:02; 2, Canada, Plaxton, :30; 3, Canada, Hudson, 10:00; 4, Canada, Trottier, :30.

Second period—5, Canada, Trottier, 5:00; 6, Canada, F. Sullivan, 3:00; 7, Canada, H. Plaxton, :30; 8, Canada, Trottier, :30.

Third period—9, Canada, Trottier, 5:00; 10, Canada, Hudson, 1:30; 11, Canada, F. Sullivan, 5:30.

Referee—Paul Loicq, Belgium.

In the second of today's games Switzerland beat Great Britain 4-0 in a dingdong battle. The result of this match would indicate that the series will end with Canada in first place, Sweden second, Switzerland third and Great Britain fourth.

AMERICANS WIN ONE

Streaking down the ice at nearly a mile a minute, John Heaton, of New York, gave the United States its first official victory of the competition today, when he captured the skeleton bobsleigh race. Heaton covered the distance in 60 2-10 seconds, two seconds slower than the world's record held by the Earl of Northesk, Great Britain. J. R. Heaton, brother of the winner, was second, and the Earl of Northesk third. Norwegians captured five of the first six places in the twelve-mile ski race. Johann Grottensbraaten, Norwegian veteran, won first place, trailed by two of his countrymen. Then came the Finn, Weli Saarinen, followed by two more Norwegians.

The figure skating went to Gillis Trafstroem, sole representative of Sweden in the event. Willi Bockl, Austrian, was runner-up; Robert Van Zeebroech, Belgium, third; Karl Schaeffer, Austria, fourth; Joseph Silva, Czechoslovakia, fifth, and Markus Nikkanen, Finland, sixth.

Vancouver All-Stars Run Riot in Netting 8-2 Win Over Locals

Mainlanders Prove Too Smart for Weakened Capitals in Final Intercity Exhibition Hockey Match—Fair Crowd Attends

Vancouver All-Stars ran riot with the weakened Victoria Capitals last night at the Willows Arena, and before a listless sixty minutes of intercity hockey terminated had hung up an 8-2 victory. About 1,500 paid admission to the game, while about 700 school children occupied the rush seats as guests of Peden Brothers.

Vancouver were too smart for the disorganized local squad, and their forwards and defence players tore holes through the Victoria defence, as runs gather in silk stockings.

Victoria tried hard at all times, but they could not get anywhere against the more seasoned team which the Mainland sent over. Downie, Dodge, Grimmett and Johnson skated through and around

HARVEY DODGE

Stalwart defenceman of the Vancouver Monarchs, who scored two and assisted in another in the All-Stars, 8-2 win over Victoria Capitals last night.

Victoria defence for two periods, but never at any time appeared to be extending themselves.

Last night's exhibition was the final as far as Victoria is concerned. The C.A.H.A. ruling dampened the spirits of the players like a cold shower and, realizing there was nothing at stake, it was mostly an individual display, especially on the part of the Capitals.

CAPITALS WEAKENED

Victoria was weakened greatly by the absence of Hughie Burnett and Earl Knipfel from the defence. The former has quit hockey for good, while the latter had not recovered sufficiently from his injuries of the game against Portland last Friday to warrant his taking the ice.

Victoria secured their two counters in the first frame, but even they were not enough to take command before the first twenty minutes had passed. Vancouver went one better and the session ended 3-2 for the visitors. In the second Vancouver ran the locals ragged and pounded home four markers, while the Capitals failed to get the hemp for one. The last added one lone tally to the visitors' count.

The game started with both teams attempting to find the goal with long shots, but for eight minutes nothing happened. From then on, however, it was one after the other. Johnson opened for Vancouver when Downie drove in a hot one and he sailed in to pick up the rebound and slip it passed Straith.

McNeeley offset this score five minutes later when he batted in a perfect pass from Stanyar. Hope slumbered soundly when this goal was netted. Foster spoilt things for Victoria when he rammed home a beautiful shot in forty seconds. Once more Victoria evened when Osmundsen picked the corner of the webbing on a bullet, low drive from centre.

After Owen had hit the back of the net on a pass from Grimmett, Vancouver were never in danger.

VISITORS GET THREE

In the second frame they added three, Johnson scoring the first in eight minutes and Grimmett bulging the rope on a pass from Dodge a little later. Dodge had another booked up one minute afterward on a pass from Grimmett. Victoria showed plenty of fight in this period, but Hope was equal to all shots that came in his direction.

Play in the final canto was listless. Straith was kept busy and Hope, at the other end, had his share. The only score of this frame came when Downie took a pass from Johnson to draw Straith from his cage, and score easily.

McNeeley showed some fine work for Victoria, while Sanders tried hard on the defence. Osmunsen played good hockey, but was marked throughout.

The line-ups:

Vancouver		Victoria
Hope	Goal	Straith
Henderson	Defence	Sanders
Dodge	Defence	McNeeley
Foster	Left Wing	Shail
Johnson	Centre	Osmundsen
Downie	Right Wing	Taylor
Grimmett	Reserve	Stanyar
Evans	Reserve	Mummery
Owen	Reserve	Ellis
	Reserve	Dowman

Referee—Gordon Meeking.

First period—1, Vancouver, Johnson, 8:00; 2, Victoria, McNeeley from Stanyar, 5:40; 3, Vancouver, Foster, :40; 4, Victoria, Osmundsen, 3:10; 5, Vancouver, Dodge, :40; 6, Vancouver, Owen from Grimmett, 2:00.

Second period—7, Vancouver, Johnson, 8:30; 8, Vancouver, Grimmett from Dodge, 8:30; 9, Vancouver, Dodge from Grimmett, 1:00.

Third period—10, Vancouver, Downie, 17:20.

PENALTIES

First period—Johnson, Mummery, Owen.

Second period—Henderson, Stanyar.

Third period—None.

GIRLS' TEAMS IN TIE

Cougarettes and Cardinals battled through two ten-minute periods, as an extra to the intercity game to a two-all draw. The girls played a code belonging to themselves, and gave the fans an added attraction for their money.

Maisie Frost opened the scoring for the Cougarettes in the first session, but Torie Rennie evened matters for the Cards when she batted home one about two minutes later.

In the second canto, Cards went into the lead when Gladys Rennie slid one along the surface to beat the opposing goalie, but Mary Cockin neutralized this six minutes later when her shot beat Gwen Wright.

Ralph Alcock refereed and the teams were:

Cougarettes—Stella Gould, Iris Philbrook, Maisie Frost, Rosie McPhee, Mary Cockin and Clara Renouf.

Cardinals—Glen Wright, Kathleen Wellburn, Dot Bassett, Torie Rennie, Gladys Rennie and Minnie Baker.

Long Count Beckons Jack Back to Ring

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

The voice of the people has nominated Jack Dempsey by ten to one to go into the ring for the next title race with Gene Tunney, the present champion.

Letters arriving from all points east, west, north and south indicate that the customers want to see the ex-champ get another big shot at the title. Very few except the straight Tunney followers appear to be satisfied with the result of the notorious "long count" battle in Chicago last September.

There are few votes for Heeney, the Australian; Jack Sharkey, and Godfrey. This Godfrey is one fellow none of the managers seems to be gunning for. Nobody wants to meet him, for some reason or other.

From the standpoint of the "gate," however, Dempsey appears to be the man, by all odds.

NORMAL SCHOOL DEFAULTS GAME

University School Will Journey to Brentwood in Only Rugby Match Today

Only one intermediate Rugby game will be played today, and that at Brentwood between University School and Brentwood College. The Normal School-Victoria College match, scheduled for the Willows Oval, has been defaulted by the former fifteen.

The game at Brentwood will see the Mt. Tolmie boys fighting for the league championship in what should be a hotly contested battle. University School won first half honors after a great fight, and victory today will give them the championship of the second half and the league title.

Waratahs to Reach Coast February 23

TORONTO, Feb. 17.—The New South Wales Rugby team, known as the Waratahs, who recently concluded a successful tour of Great Britain, during which they were defeated only five times and who are now crossing Canada en route to their home in Australia, leaves here today for Banff, Alberta, after three days spent at various points in Central Ontario. They will spend one day at the Winter resort and then go to Vancouver, arriving there on February 23. At Vancouver they are scheduled to play three games against various British Columbia aggregations, proceeding to Australia on March 7.

BOXERS AWAIT GONG SOUNDING

Seattle Boys Will Battle Pick of Local Fighters at Tillicum Athletic Club Gymnasium Tonight

JOE CALLUM WILL APPEAR ON CARD

With local boxers intent on polishing off their Seattle opponents, tonight's international boxing card at the Tillicum Athletic Club promises to provide some interesting bouts. Four Sound City fighters will set foot in Victoria this afternoon, and tonight will match their skill with the pick of local amateur boxers. Nine bouts are presented on the card which will be in keeping with those of previous weeks, and a capacity house is expected. The first bout will get under way at 8:30 p.m.

In the main event Charlie Storch, local heavyweight, will don the mitts against Pat McMillan, of Seattle. Storch staged a comeback last week after a month's absence from the squared circle by putting Ken Fox, from the Sound City, away in the first round. Tonight he will be out to administer the same does to McMillan.

Joe Callum, shifty and clever 152-pound boy, will pit his skill against Mike Labe, another fighter who hails from the American city. Callum, in his first bout, scored a k.o. over Fox in the second round, and will be out to chalk up a second win in as many trips through the ropes.

KEIST TO MEET FLORES

In what promises to be a fast and interesting go, Tim Keist, who has accounted for three invaders, will step three rounds with Joe Flores, of Seattle. The American lad needs no introduction to the followers of the cauliflower pastime, as he has made two appearances here against Danny Pastroe. In the first bout he was held to a draw by the local lad, but last week Flores was given the decision. Flores is clever, and packs a dynamite punch in his right hand. Keist is a two-handed fighter, and one of the best finds in local pugilistic circles for many a day.

The fourth American boxer will be Obe Regonda, who last week scored a technical k.o. over Neel, the fighting barber. He will stack up against Danny Pastroe, local 125-pounder, in what should be a whirlwind affair. In Pastroe, the American boy will find an opponent that will fight him all of the route, and a lively session should be the result. Regonda is fast, uses both hands, and likes to mix.

The local lads have been training every night, and are in first class trim for tonight's bouts.

In addition to the four international bouts, a number of local lads will be seen in action. These include Frank Hall, George Driver, C. Milton, Ronald Service, Gilman, of Sidney, Walter Spaven, Bruce Low, Allan Richer, Clarence Leask, Herbert Sutton, Tommy Drysdale and H. Bailey.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at F. B. Richardson's, 736 Yates Street.

TIM KEIST

Clever local boxer, who will meet Joe Flores, of Seattle, in tonight's international amateur boxing card at the Tillicum Athletic Club

IMPERIAL CLUB WIN BADMINTON MATCHES

Courtenay Team Defeats Combined Team From Cumberland and Comox by 17-3

COURTENAY, Feb. 16.—"B" team players of the Imperial Badminton Club were successful again last night in their second interclub match of the season, winning seventeen matches to three for their opponents, a combined team from Cumberland and Comox. In fairness to the visitors it should be said that the high ceiling over the courts proved a handicap to them, as they are used to a low ceiling and seemed unable to cope with the high back line shots which the Royston players invariably sent over. Some good matches were enjoyed, however, and after tea had been served the visitors kept the courts going until a late hour with friendly matches. The complete score was as follows, Royston players first.

Maxie Rosenbloom Wins

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, outpointed Jack McVeigh, negro middleweight, in an eight-round semi-final. Maxie was too fast and clever for the hard-hitting negro. Rosenbloom weighed 159 pounds; McVeigh, 154.

Trail to Meet Monarch Team For B.C. Title

TRAIL, B.C., Feb. 17.—Trail senior hockey team, provincial champions of last season, won the championship of the West Kootenay Hockey League tonight on Trail artificial ice, when they defeated the Nelson Kokanees, 4-0, on the night's game, and 5-2 on the play-off series. Trail tallied in all three periods, in the last one twice, while Nelson, though fighting hard and raining shots, never made the net.

First game of the provincial finals with the Vancouver Monarchs will be played at Trail, February 23.

BOWLING

Eagles trundlers, fourth-berth occupants of the City Bowling League, threw a snag into the championship climb of the Colonist Night Owls, when they won two of the three games on the Arcade Alleys last night.

J. Skellern, of the Owls, carried off high aggregate honors with 522, while Alec Potts annexed high individual score with 202.

Frenchy Belanger Defeated by Ross

DETROIT, Feb. 17.—Joey Ross, New York flyweight, punched out an eight-round decision with Frenchy Belanger, Toronto, former holder of the National Boxing Commission's title for the division here tonight.

The New York sharpshooter assumed a commanding lead at the start and maintained it throughout.

Corporal Izzy Schwartz, acclaimed by the New York Boxing Commission as flyweight boxing champion, made a chopping block of Billy Shaw, Detroit bantamweight, in a one-sided eight-round bout.

Vernon and Merritt Intermediates in Tie

VERNON, B.C., Feb. 17.—Vernon and Merritt battled sixty minutes here tonight to a 1-1 draw for the intermediate championship of British Columbia. The ice was harder than for any of the games with Trail, but the play did not have the same strenuous flavor.

Club Hears Address On Sir Walter Scott

The regular monthly meeting of the Burns Club was held with Mr. John Hosie in the chair. A large attendance of members enjoyed an exceptionally interesting programme.

Captain A. M. Boyd's address on Sir Walter Scott was treated in his usual masterly style, covering the life and works of the great Scottish novelist and poet in an instructive manner.

Monsieur H. Blais le Franc, a French tenor of repute, received a great ovation for his enjoyable rendition of "The Blue Bells of Scotland" and "Comin' Thru' the Rye." He also gave a French song in a vivacious and dramatic style. "Lassie o' Mine," "A Hundred Pipers," and two encores were rendered by Mr. George Leslie Gray, his fine rich baritone being greatly enjoyed. Members and others are reminded of the grand Scottish concert to be given on Wednesday evening, February 29, by the First United prize choir, under the auspices of the Burns Club, tickets for which are now on sale.

SIDNEY BOARD HEARS REPORT

President G. A. Cochran Reviews Year's Activities of North Saanich Body—Many Satisfactory Results

OFFICERS RETAIN POSTS FOR YEAR

SIDNEY, Feb. 16.—The annual meeting of the Sidney Board of Trade was held in Wesley Hall on Tuesday evening. The president, Mr. G. A. Cochran, occupied the chair and opened the meeting.

A resolution from the Social Service Council of Canada urging that horse racing in the province be limited to five days on each track was endorsed. A subscription of $2.50 from the Sidney Social Club towards the street lighting fund was acknowledged with thanks. On recommendation of the council, Mr. Sparling was unanimously elected a member of the board without ballot.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The president, Mr. G. A. Cochran, then presented his report in which he referred to the fact that many questions of considerable importance have been brought before the board during the year, and not a few of these have been brought to a satisfactory conclusion and others which are still a live issue, it is hoped may before long, be settled.

Work of a purely local character has been well sustained. The board again staged a very successful swimming gala last year. In conjunction with the Parent-Teacher Association and public spirited citizens, a float was entered in the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation parade at Victoria, and although the float was not among the prize winners, it received considerable favorable comment from spectators. Periodically during the year the board has staged a number of educational evenings and every one was an unqualified success, and commented upon most favorably by the residents.

During the year there was a very necessary replacement of sidewalks. There was also a notification of a substantial decrease in lighting rates, a measure which the board has sponsored for some time, and it is further informed that considerable work will soon be done by way of electric extensions.

NO CAUSE TO WORRY

"Many of our citizens," said the president, "no doubt notice the absence of an appropriation for Sidney public works as reported in the daily papers last week. I have been assured that there is no cause to worry. The Sidney wharf will be well cared for this coming year and a float, etc., will be placed, but the proper authorities will no doubt make announcement about that later.

"The question of a public building which the board has been very interested in lately, is being taken up by the various organizations, and no doubt, news will be received in a short time.

"Through our affiliation with such organizations as the Associated Boards of Trade, Victoria Publicity Bureau, B.C. Publicity Bureau, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, your board has maintained its interest in matters of provincial and national character.

"We have closed a year in which steady and healthy progress has been evident in all directions; from a purely business standpoint, the year has been very satisfactory; that our business men have faith in their community is best shown by the money they have spent in enlarging and opening up new places of business. All year we have had a steady building up of residential property, the real estate market in the district of North Saanich showing moderate activity during the year 1927. Exclusive of the town of Sidney, real estate sales during the past year approximated the $100,000 mark. A large percentage of the sales involved properties in the Deep Cove district. About fifty per cent of the total sales were the means of bringing new residents into the district.

"Unfortunately we had a rather serious fire during the last month but we are very glad that all those who suffered loss have been able to temporarily establish themselves until such a time as more suitable premises are built. We have every reason to be proud of our volunteer fire fighters who confined the fire to the block it started in."

In conclusion the president thanked all the members for their hearty support during his term of office.

Mr. J. J. White then presented the treasurers' report, which proved most satisfactory.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The election of officers for the ensuing year then took place and resulted as follows: President, Mr. G. A. Cochran (re-elected); vice-president, Mr. R. N. MacAulay (re-elected); treasurer, Mr. J. J. White (re-elected); secretary, Mr. A. Williamson (re-elected); auditor, Mr. C. G. Wemyss (re-elected); council, Messrs. A. W. Hollands, H. A. McKillican, J. F. McNeil, T. Rigg, C. C. Cochran, G. E. Goddard and A. S. Warrender.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

Amongst the new business brought forward for discussion, it was unanimously agreed that the board go on record as being opposed to giving the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council power to dispose of any or all parks, as has been suggested in a motion by the Minister of Lands.

It was further agreed that the board endorse the Kennedy amendment to the resolution by Mr. C. F. Davie, M.P.P. for Cowichan-Newcastle, asking for the total exclusion of Orientals from the Province.

CELEBRATION INAUGURATED

tion. The Junior Chamber had all the equipment, stationery, staff and headquarters for conducting such a celebration, and this would help materially in cutting down expense.

The Junior Chamber had no desire to cast any reflection on past committees and was desirous of getting all the co-operation possible to obtain from the citizens of Victoria. There would be plenty of work to do and they would call upon everyone who was willing to assist by working on the various committees.

THE RESOLUTION

Following his remarks, Mr. Straith moved the following resolution:

"That this citizens' meeting authorize the Junior Chamber of Commerce to act as a special committee to handle all arrangements necessary to provide for the celebration of the 24th of May this year in the capacity of managing committee only; that such committee be directed to call in persons from the various interested organizations in the city and from different walks in life, to act as representatives on the committee; that the committee be authorized to appoint an active chairman; and that the City Council be requested to appoint an honorary chairman of the committee to act as between the committee and the council, and to authorize Mr. Edwin C. Smith, city treasurer, to be treasurer of the committee."

After this resolution was introduced, Mr. Jack North moved an amendment that the last year's committee be elected to carry on this year. He felt that the 1927 committee had done the work so satisfactorily and efficiently that the members should be re-elected. Other members of last year's committee spoke on the amendment. Mr. H. S. Stevenson, however, offered an amendment to the amendment, which eventually became the amendment to the resolution, owing to the withdrawal of the former one.

SECOND AMENDMENT

Mr. Stevenson said he felt sure the Junior Chamber of Commerce was inspired by the best motives in offering their services and he appreciated the offer in the spirit it was given. Because of their willingness to co-operate in the celebration and because of the manner in which they had helped with the last July 1 celebration, he felt that in proposing his amendment it would meet the situation better. The amendment reads as follows:

"That a joint committee, composed of the members of the May 24 celebration committee of 1927 and the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, be appointed as a special committee to handle all arrangements in connection with the celebration of May 24, 1928."

The amendment was defeated, thirty-five to twenty-nine votes. Mr. Stevenson then asked the meeting that the vote be unanimous in appointing the Junior Chamber as the managing committee, and in making this request he hoped that every citizen would co-operate to make the celebration as big a success as possible. The resolution was then put and carried without a dissenting vote.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET IS HELD

Two Hundred Attend Event Sponsored by Metropolitan Brotherhood Last Night

Some 200 men and boys attended the father and son banquet held in the Metropolitan Church banquet hall last night which was sponsored by the Metropolitan Brotherhood. Mr. H. H. Hollins, president of the brotherhood, was chairman.

Community singing and toasts made up the programme. Mr. J. M. Campbell, principal of the North Ward School, was the chief speaker of the evening. His subject was "Education for the Youth of British Columbia."

Mr. Campbell made a strong appeal for the education of such boys and girls as were not capable of higher education as known in colleges and universities. A plea for those who were fitted for technical and practical, rather than for advanced literary study was made. He spoke of the duty of the State as well as the school in developing child life. Other agencies for the development of the boys and girls were the home and church, the speaker said.

A song contest between the various Sunday school classes resulted in the winning of the prize by Mr. George Robinson's class.

U. S. REQUIRES DAIRY PRODUCE

Commissioner on Coast for Convention in Nanaimo—Situation for Canadian Dairy Output

DOMINION HAS MORE MILCH COWS

Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner for Canada, arrived in the city Thursday from Calgary, where he attended the Alberta Dairy Convention, having come here to confer with officials of the Department of Agriculture. He will attend the meeting of the B.C. Dairymen's Association in Nanaimo, and then proceed to Edmonton.

He expressed the view that the outlook for dairy produce in comparison with other farm activities, was full of encouragement for those engaged in it.

If the United States demand continued to grow, it could not fail to react favorably on the world's market. When dairy produce went to the United States, it went to fill a new demand, and that reduced the supply to the United Kingdom, which for practical uses was the world's market.

MARKET IN SIGHT

It was evident that for some years now the population in the United States had been increasing faster than the number of cows. In 1890 there was one cow for 3.9 persons. In 1910 the ratio was one to 4.2; in 1920, one to 4.9, and on January 1, 1927, it was one cow to 5.2 persons.

"If this shrinkage in the number of cows in proportion to population continues in the United States," he said, "the time will come, sooner or later, when our neighbors will require all our surplus of dairy products."

Dr. Ruddick admitted, however, that he had no means of knowing whether the shrinkage in the United States would continue, but the possibilities of the situation were sufficient to give them something to think about. Practically one-third of Canadian export was to the United States during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1927. The proportion would be considerably larger during the present fiscal year. Cream was the largest item. In 1927 the exports of cream were 4,406,528 gallons, and of milk, 4,886,445 gallons.

Dr. Ruddick said that a good deal of stress had been laid on the export of cows to the United States. The Customs Department had not, in the past, distinguished in the export returns as between milch cows, beef, cattle or breeding stock; only the total number of cattle had been given, so there was no way of finding out just how many cows were exported in 1927, or how the number compared with previous years. It was popularly believed in some sections that the number was much larger than usual, but estimates for the whole country based on local knowledge were not a very reliable guide.

After all, the crux of the matter, he said, lay in the fact that the Bureau of Statistics estimated the number of milch cows in Canada in June, 1927, at 3,894,311, as compared with 3,839,191 in June, 1926, an increase of 55,120. That was only an estimate, but it was made on a system which has proved in the past to be very close to actual count when checked up with the decennial census.

AN OPEN INVITATION TO AMBITIOUS MEN. Every man who sells every man who wants to sell every ambitious man owes it to himself to know about the "Faber" proposition. Read this carefully—we make no unsupported claims in this advertisement—we are manufacturers of the largest and most complete line of men's tailored-to-measure clothes priced to meet every purse. We sell direct to the consumer through special representatives—the man we select as our factory representatives will be thoroughly trained—their success will be assured. Highest commissions—liberal bonus plan—and free suits for our salesmen makes them the highest paid in the country. The "Faber" selling outfit is, we believe, the most powerful ever put in the hands of a salesman. It is complete, compact and convenient to handle. Back of it all we stand—a big successful institution—training and directing the new man whose experience is limited and needs such training and co-operating with every man, regardless of his experience, to the limit of our ability and resources. If you are honest and straightforward and believe that worthwhile success is to be achieved by worthwhile efforts—write today. It may be the turning point of your career—storekeepers' profits without storekeepers' worries. Lewis Faber & Co., Dept. 1, 374 Lawrence Blvd., Montreal.

Salient Points of the Bidding

North holds no sound assist for his partner's bid until partner has rebid.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 3. With nine positive tricks, the question that confronts the Declarer is how to develop the tenth trick required for game. To establish a Spade trick in Dummy, and subsequently make it, is clearly impossible because of the lack of entries in Dummy. Therefore the only recourse is to establish an additional Club trick. This can be done only if South holds two of the three missing Club honors and North the Ace of Hearts. With these cards so placed, the ten of Hearts can be utilized as one entry in the Dummy, and the King of Spades providing another, Clubs can be led twice from Dummy, and a double finesse taken. Should a high Heart be led first and the Ace not be played thereon, the ten of Hearts would be killed as an entry. Consequently, West leads a low Heart to Dummy's ten. The ten winning, the first Club finesse is taken. Declarer's subsequent play of the hand follows precisely his plan of procedure, resulting in game.

An American visitor who appeared in a black tie and dinner jacket at a dinner party where all the other guests were in more formal attire, turned the tables on them successfully.

"I asked a friend whether a black tie would be all right for this dinner party," he remarked in his speech. "But when I said the dinner was being given by our host, was told I would have to wear a white tie. Having pointed out that I had only a dinner jacket with me, and that there was not enough time to have dress clothes made for me," the man continued, "I was advised to try a firm of ready-made clothiers who specialize in hiring out garments for the evening.

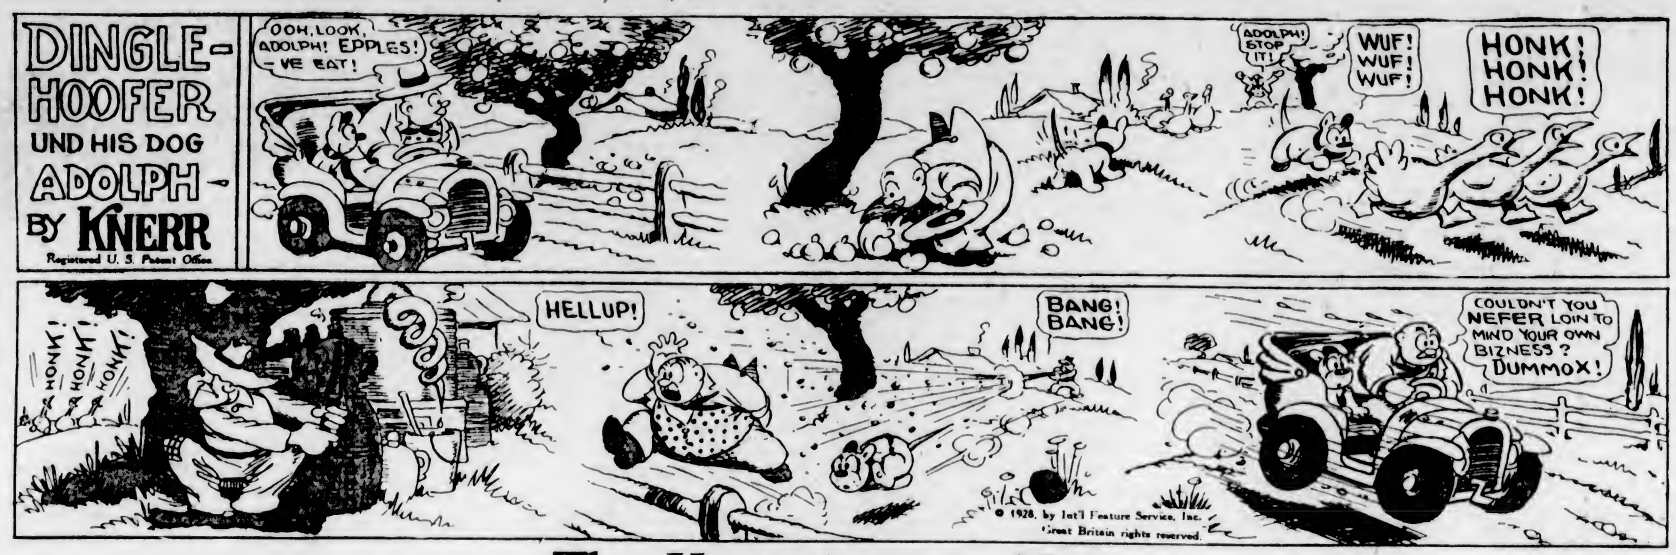

"I took his advice. I went there, I asked for some dress clothes.

"'Dress clothes?' said the salesman. 'We have everything else—riding breeches, fancy dress, morning coats, but we are completely out of dress clothes.'

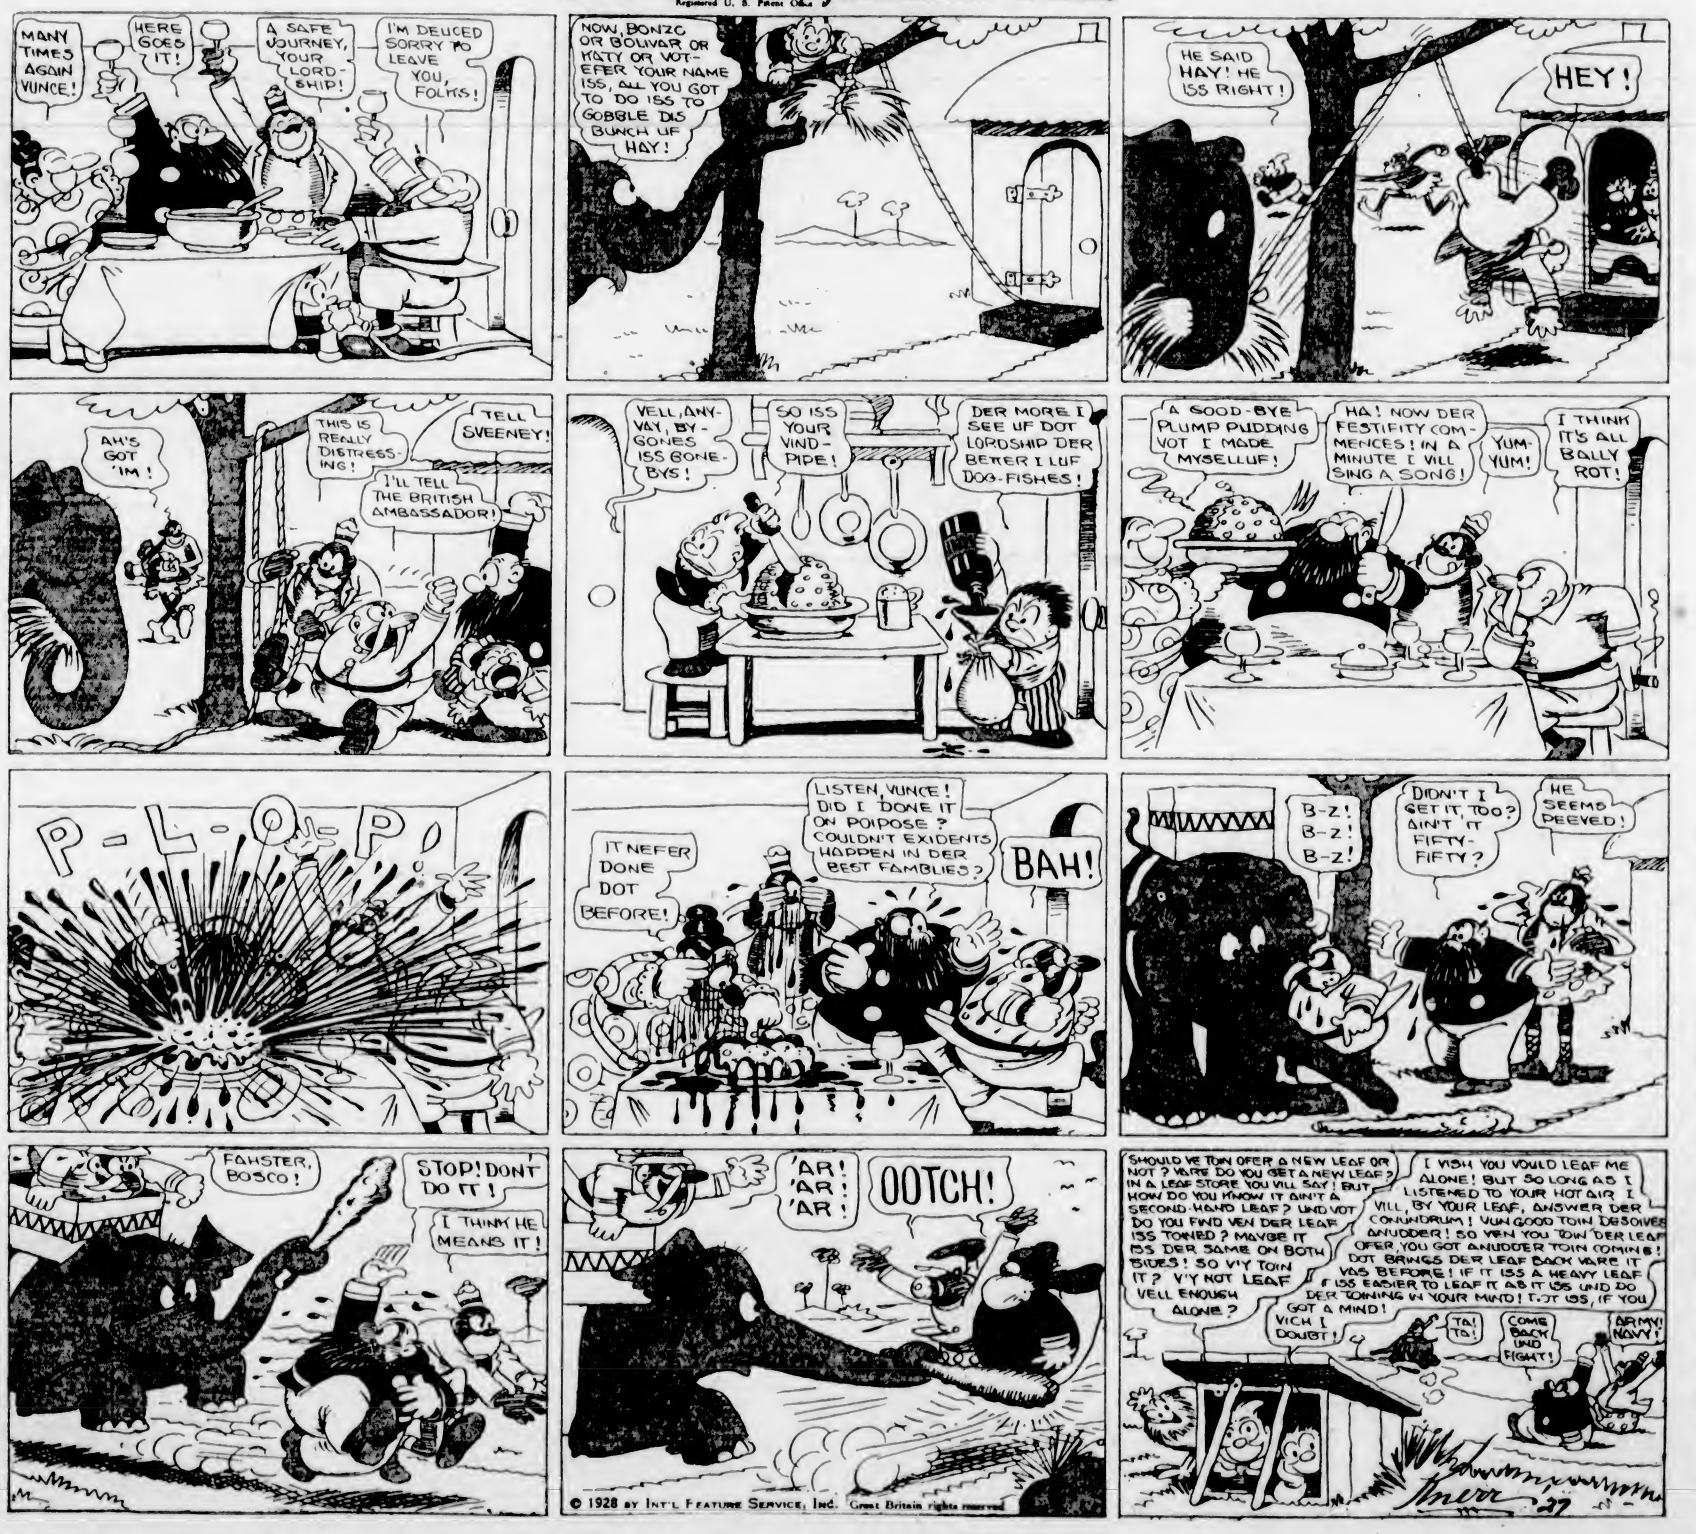

"'How is that?' I asked.

"'Oh,' said the salesman, 'Lord Blank (the host) is giving a dinner party tonight.'"

DRASTIC SLUMP IN N. Y. STOCKS

Scores of Leading Industrials and Rails Carried Down From Two to Five Points Under Pressure

EXTREME DECLINES RUN TO 19 POINTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The stock market today experienced the most drastic reaction since that which followed the famous "I do not choose to run" statement of President Coolidge last August. Heavy selling orders for both accounts carried scores of leading industrials and rails down two to five points, while extreme declines of five to nearly nineteen points, a small part of which were recovered, took place in a scattering of specialties.

Trading which had been relatively dull until the last hour, took a sudden spurt at the close. The day's sales fell short of 3,000,000.

Wall Street could point to nothing in the day's news on which to hang the reaction. It was generally conceded, however, that pool manipulation in recent weeks had created a number of speculative peaks which needed to be flattened out.

Among the active issues, Midland Steel Products preferred and Greene Cananea Copper were the hardest hit. Midland preferred broke 18 3-4 points to 211, as against a high of 315 in December, and Cananea collapsed 16 1-2 points to 116, as compared with a high of 164 1-2 early this year. Net declines of five points or more were recorded by Adams Express, American Zinc and Lead preferred, Barnet Leather, Calumet and Arizona, Gold Dust, International Business Machines, International Nickel, Montgomery Ward, Standard Milling, Timken Roller Bearing, Transue & Williams, United States Industrial Alcohol, and Warren Brothers. United States Steel sold off more than three points to 140 7-8. General Motors made up the 1.25 dividend which came off the stock today on the first sale at 136 3-4, but subsequently sold down to 133 and closed slightly above that figure for a net loss of 2 1-8. American Can dropped from a high of 80-1-8 to 76 7-8, off 2 3-4 net; Hudson Motors lost more than four points at 79 1-4, and Radio tumbled from 92 3-8 to 87 1-2, closing at 88.

Seaboard bonds were decidedly weak, losses ranging from one to four points. Florida East Coast 5's also were sold in large amounts. Recessions were made by such bonds as Andes Coppers 7's and North American Cement 6's.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 17.—Corn: Traders who watch visible supplies are impressed with the fact that feed grain supplies available are over 30,000,000 less than last year. Local receipts have dropped to a point where they no more than offset local consumption, but if this cold snap puts roads into condition for hauling, we should expect to see resumption of a more liberal movement.

Wheat: Whether the Russians were covering shorts or the buying came from some other source, there has been enough of it to materially influence prices. The fact that Argentine shipments are less than two-thirds as large as last week, coupled with the firmness of fresh Argentine offers is sufficient to account for the strength abroad, but buying on this side has not yet been explained. Until a better basis for an upturn is revealed, we should be inclined to go slow on following the upturns.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—The raw sugar market was steady in tone today, but no sales were reported and prices were unchanged at 4.14 for Cuban, duty paid. The decline to the 5.60 level for fine granulated by local refiners failed to create increased buying and the demand was again light.

Maturing Government Bonds

We would bring to the attention of the careful investor the urgent necessity of an analysis of his short-term holdings. In view of the strengthening demand for high-grade bonds, causing a consistent downward trend in the investment yield per cent, we strongly advise replacement of these foundation securities into longer term Government and Municipal Bonds.

We can supply definite information on this subject, and will be glad to be of service to the investor.

Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A moderate decrease in brokers' loans during the week ended February 15 is just about sufficient incentive to bring an irregular rally into the market for the week-end, although undoubtedly the attempt will be made, as it was on several occasions yesterday, to force the market lower. A sufficient number of sound issues are either close enough or at their resistance points, so that at least a rebound from the present levels to which they have declined is called for by technicalities of market movement. With the aid of a not unfavorable loan statement the rebound of these issues which are headed higher irrespective of any general market trend, plus covering of a fairly cumbersome short interest, should bring on the whole a slightly more inspiring market than we have witnessed thus far this week.

Expect the General Motors statement today to disclose about an even $13 on their common for 1927 and January sales report soon for release rather clearly indicate a new record for the first quarter of this year. Hupp is giving a good account of itself and should follow any demonstration made in General Motors. Continue to recommend purchase of American Can, American Smelter, Victor Talking, Chrysler, American Chicle, the copper and leather as well as Pullman, New York Air Brake and Westinghouse Electric in the equipment.

El Paso wires: Nationally known geologist has just returned from examination of Cusi Mexican holdings. His report is highly satisfactory. The property has long life and great possibilities. All units of mill are operating most effectively and the last ten days of January shows an increase in profits of 100 per cent. Believe this stock is a good purchase.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.—Wheat: The wheat market was very steady today with prices ranging from 1/8 lower to 5/8 higher. The May future touched $1.37 1/8 on the extreme bulge, but offerings were quite liberal, there being liquidation by longs, while the pool also fed out some more wheat into the pit at $1.37.

The absorption appeared to be largely by local bulls, who are very bullish, and the commission houses on resting orders. Export business was in much smaller volume today, although overnight sales were estimated by seaboard at around 800,000 bushels, largely Manitobas. The Continental Grain Company, who were the heavy buyers yesterday, were only buying moderately at times today and they were also selling both futures and cash wheat. Generally speaking the market was inactive today in so far as any real business was concerned. Chicago, which had held firm throughout, weakened during the last half-hour and our market followed to new lows for the day. There was no confirmation that Russia had been buying wheat or flour the past few days, as was reported yesterday.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union denied that they had purchased or even contemplated buying wheat. Liverpool was stronger than expected, closing 1/2 to 7/8 up, based on an improved milling demand and buying by the continent, with offerings of Canadian and Argentine wheats more firmly held. While there is an improved demand for wheat from abroad, there is apparently plenty to go around. Shipments this week from Argentina and Australia total only 8,005,000 bushels as compared with 10,846,000 bushels last week, but Broomhall cables that Argentine shipments are expected to increase again next week. We are not inclined to follow bulges such as took place yesterday, as we do not believe they will be maintained. More moisture has been received over Winter wheat belt which is sufficient for the time being, but temperatures remain cold. Winnipeg futures closed 3/8 to 7/8 lower, or on the bottom for the day.

Coarse Grains: The demand was poor today for oats, barley and rye, and longs were liquidating and taking profits on yesterday's upturn. While the undertone to these markets is firm, the buying does not follow the bulges at present levels. Oats closed 3/8 lower, barley 3/4 lower, rye 1/4 to 3/8 lower. Flax turned weak, with buyers of yesterday unloading with the demand very poor. Closing figures, 1 1/4 to 1 1/4 lower.

PUBLIC CROWDS STOCK EXCHANGE

Due to the bullish move on the British Columbia mine market, the public gallery at the Victoria Stock Exchange room on Trounce Alley was crowded all day yesterday, and many had to content themselves with watching the quotations in the board rooms of the various financial houses. The bulk of the buying yesterday came from the floor representatives of Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal buyers.

BOUNTIES ON COPPER

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—A resolution moved by the Minister of Finance during his budget speech provides for continuation of the payment of bounties at the rate of one-half of one cent a pound on copper bars and rods until June 30, 1931. The resolution called for amendments to the Copper Bounties Act, 1923, to provide for continuation of this payment.

Dominion Steel

MONTREAL, Feb. 17.—The Dominion Steel Company's preference stockholders' committee has sent out from its London office a letter to shareholders recommending that the liquidation proceedings in connection with the corporation be set aside or permanently stayed.

The letter reminds depositors that under terms of the deposit agreement they are not entitled to withdraw deposited shares at this stage, such withdrawal being entirely at the discretion of the committee, who feel bound to say that it would be only under very exceptional circumstances that they would permit any withdrawal.

VANCOUVER EXCHANGE

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17.—The Vancouver Stock Exchange was a wild affair today with a tremendous volume of sales going through. Several leaders which were strong during the morning, eased off during the afternoon in the face of profit taking sales, but generally the market maintained a firm tone. Pend Oreille continued to monopolize interest. Closing at 22 on Thursday, this issue was rapidly bid up to 24 during the morning, reacting to 23 1/2 at the noon close. During the afternoon profit taking sales came out, forcing a decline to $21, for a net loss of $1.

Grandview, which created a mild sensation Thursday morning when it jumped from 70c to $2.00 and closed at 1.28, was again traded in today but slumped badly, closing at 85c, an overnight loss of 43c. George Copper was strong, closing at 27.75, $1.00 up.

Premier eased off 10c and Sunloch 25c. Coast Copper sold off $2.00 to $2.40. Argenta and Big Missouri were in demand, advancing 7c, while whitewater gained 10c. The balance of the list was steady to 5 points higher.

Sales, 820,804 shares, were third largest, but money turnover, $578,733 smashed all records, the nearest figure being $479,392 on January 13. Pend Oreille sales exceeded 228,000.

CHILDREN'S AID HOME SAID TO BE FIRE-TRAP

VANCOUVER, Feb. 17.—Because, in his opinion, the institution of the Children's Aid Society at 2613 Wall Street is not safe, Judge Grant, in County Court yesterday, refused to commit five young children to their care. His Honor, instead, committed the infants into the charge of Thomas Menzies, superintendent of neglected children.

"I will hesitate a long time before I will commit children to an institution that the grand juries of this city have time and time again condemned as a fire-trap," said Judge Grant. "I will commit the children to the superintendent, and if he is disposed to hand them over to the Children's Aid I haven't a word to say; but the responsibility will be his and not mine. That is the only way that I can protest against keeping an institution of that nature in a condition in which it is."

CO-OPERATION

Not a few people are of the opinion that a Bond House is interested only in disposing of the securities they hold. This is not the case. No Investment House can survive and be successful without making it profitable for the purchaser, and by making a profit for the investor we in like degree make it profitable for ourselves. Co-operation between buyer and seller is essential in this business as in all others and it is to our mutual benefit that our clients be offered only the highest grade securities.

Dangerous Diplomats

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Although French Senators maintained yesterday that the place of women was in the home and refused to allow their conscription in time of war, The Petit Parisien today says the diplomatic service is soon to be opened to women.

The paper understands a decree to this effect will be promulgated shortly. At first the women would serve only in the office of the Foreign department, as diplomats abroad have to perform many services now barred to women. These include presiding over consular courts, celebrating marriages and serving on medical boards which examine French military recruits.

The law will be amended eventually so that women can be admitted to the service on the same conditions as men.
